WORDS OF GRATITUDE AND ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

As a staunch believer in and practitioner of the power of 'Attitude of Gratitude' I am delighted to acknowledge and thank many people who have helped, encouraged and empowered me to take up this research work and to complete it.

Among them, the first and the foremost is Dr. V.T. Patil, Former J.N. Professor of Political Science, Karnataka University, Dharwar and former Vice-Chancellor of Pondicherry University. He is a scholar of eminence, acknowledged nationally and internationally. As an authority on Mahatma Gandhi and Jawaharlal Nehru, he has authored around forty monumental works, on different subjects, besides obtaining several awards and prizes. I consider myself fortunate to have such an eminent scholar as my Guide, under whose persistent encouragement, able supervision and scholarly guidance, I could complete this study. I am profoundly grateful to him.

My sincere thanks are due to the Vice Chancellor, Registrar, Deputy Registrar and staff of Karnataka University and to the Head of the Department and Faculty Members of Political Science, for their kind help, encouragement and cooperation.

Dr. Baburao Mudbi, I.A.S., Managing Director, Karnataka Scheduled Castes and scheduled Tribes Development Corporation, my good friend for many years and colleague, has been a source of inspiration and encouragement to me. Besides encouraging me to conduct H.R.D. Training Programmes by personally attending to them and organizing them for the benefit of his officers and officials. He was very keen that I should complete this work and complete it early. He helped and encouraged me in several ways. I am highly thankful to him. I am also thankful to Mrs. Baburao Mudbi and family members for their moral and material support.

My sincere thanks are due to Dr. Jogan Shankar, Professor of Sociology, Mangalore University and a renowned Sociologist, for his scholarly insights, suggestions, advice and encouragement, which were of immense value. So is the contribution of Mrs. Jogan Shankar, highly learned and a knowledgeable person, by way of strategic hints, advice and encouragement in completing my work. I sincerely thank Mrs. Jogan Shankar for all this, and also for her hospitality.

The idea of doing Ph.D., lingering in my mind for a long time, was concretized by the encouragement of Dr. M.B. Dilshad, Principal, Anjuman College of Arts, Dharwar. As a good friend of mine for many years, he has taken keen interest in many of my activities, particularly in pursuit of this research work, right from the stage of registration up to its completion, by his continuous support and motivation. I record my sincere thanks to him.

I am grateful to my revered philosopher and guide Mr. K.M. Koti, I.A.S. (Retd), former Member, K.P.S.C., my esteemed friend Dr. Mariyappa, Deodurg,
Jt. Commissioner of Commercial Taxes, Gulbarga, Justice K. Ramanna, Judge, High Court of Karnataka, Mr. K. Mallinath K.A.S., (Sr.Scale), Prof. V. B. Kattimani, Academic Council Member, Karnataka University, for their support, inspiration and encouragement.

I thank Dr. A.E. Punith, Professor of Sociology (Rtd.), Karnatak University, Dr. M. G. Krishnan, Professor of Political Science, Bangalore University, Dr. S. Siddalingaiah, Professor of Kannada and a revolutionary poet and writer, Dr. S. Japhet, Professor of Sociology, National Law School of India University, Bangalore, for their valuable information and suggestions.

I express my appreciation to my friends from the Institute for Social and Economic Change, Bangalore, Dr. Manohar Yadav for furnishing information and revolutionary ideas, Mr. Dasanooor Kusanna for his encouragement, for providing me with books, materials and for arranging assistance for typing and word processing work.

I sincerely thank Mr Shinde Bhimsain Rao, H., K.A.S. (C.M’s Secretariat) and his wife Dr. Chandrama S. Kanagali (Professor of English), Director, Sri Devaraj Urs Research Institute, Bangalore, for their encouragement and inspiration.

I express my appreciation and gratitude to Mr. D. Balakrishnan, Mr. Erimalai Rathinam, Mr. Fon. Desaraj, Prof. P.S. Panneer Selvam, my friends from Chennai for their kind help with many rare books, journals, newspaper clippings and other valuable information on the subject.

My thanks are due to Dr (Mrs) Susila Mariyappan, Director and International Student Advisor, University Students Advisory Bureau, University of Madras, for her encouragement and for enabling me to use the University Library.

I express my appreciation to Dr. V. K. Natraj and Dr. M. Thangaraj, Director and Associate Professor, respectively, of Madras Institute of Development Studies for their useful interaction and assistance with books and articles.

I am beholden to my friends and colleagues Mr. K. Shiva Ramu I.A.S., Commissioner, Department of Social Welfare, Mr. M. R. Kamble, I.A.S., former Commissioner, Department of Social Welfare and Mr. B. Basavaraj, I.A.S., Director, Backward Classes Department, who encouraged me and furnished me with data and information.

I also thank sincerely the officers and officials of the Departments of Social Welfare, Backward Classes and Minorities, Directorate of Civil Rights Enforcement and also the Director, Officers and officials of the Regional Office of the National Commission for SCs and STs, Bangalore, and the Secretary, Karnataka Legislature Secretariat, and his staff for their cooperation and help in providing me with the necessary information.
I am also indebted to all those who responded to the questionnaire and offered their valuable remarks.

I fondly remember and acknowledge the support and contribution of all the members of my family, particularly my sons Prasanna V. Raju and Shylesh Raju, daughters Saraswati Jinesh and Jyotsna Babu, sons-in-law K.P.N. Jinesh and Dr. R. Narayana Babu M.D., daughters-in-law Pinkoo and Rose and prodigious grand-kids Harsha Babu, Jinendra Jain and Vaishnav Raju. The contribution and inspiration of Jinesh and Saraswati who are in the United States, are unique in empowering me to continue to lead an active, dynamic life with several goals and projects to achieve, the present study being one of them.

The care, concern, support and sacrifice of my wife Mrs. Renuka Raju throughout my life, more particularly during this study, are legendary and deserve special mention here. I record my special appreciation, acknowledgement and thanks to her.

The memory of my days, rather years as lecturer in Political Science, Government College, Gulbarga, is evergreen in my mind. It is during this period my interest in continuous learning and flare for excellence were kindled by the enthralling and challenging experience of guiding students. I remember with nostalgia all those wonderful people, who were responsible, both directly and indirectly, for moulding my life and career. The flame is still burning, brighter. I thank all my students.

Mr. T. Srinivasa Murthy, ISEC, has done an excellent work in computer word processing and in completing the work in time. My sincere thanks to him.

Lastly, I wish to thank that one Important Person in my life. Thank you, God! For this wonderful, unique gift you have blessed me with – THIS LIFE.
