ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Words cannot express fully my deepest feeling of gratitude and I can never hope to repay the debt I owe to my Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ who gave me the necessary wisdom, strength and determination to complete my dissertation successfully.

I gratefully acknowledge the generous and helpful nature of my guide Dr. H. Francis Soundararaj, who in the midst of all the pressures of official and administrative duties as the Principal was always patient and kind to me. This dissertation owes a great deal to his deep learning, keen intellect and meticulous and scholarly attention to detail. His wise comments were a great source of inspiration and guidance throughout.

I thank my dear wife Sheila and children Adeline and Jonathan and my parents for their unfailing encouragement, and for helpfully providing me a congenial atmosphere at home.

I owe a great deal both directly and indirectly to my teachers, colleagues and friends–categories that overlap considerably. I gratefully single out for individual thanks Dr. S.R. Swaminathan for his thoughtful comments and encouragement and for sending me books from New York. Mr. Stephen Jebanesan, Dr. P.S. Dorai and Mr. P. Sairaj who always responded spontaneously and generously whenever I sought their advice.

Felix Moses
CONTENTS

ABSTRACT

Chapter I  Introduction  1

Chapter II  Stylistic Analysis of the Narrative Structure and Dramatic Mode of Presentation of "Edward Edward" and "Sister Helen."  19

Chapter III  Stylistic Analysis of the Lexical and Grammatical Categories of "Edward Edward" and "Sister Helen."  76

Chapter IV  Stylistic Analysis of the Schemes and Tropes of "Edward Edward" and "Sister Helen."  134

Chapter V  Stylistic Analysis of the Stanzalike Structure and Prosody of "Edward Edward" and "Sister Helen."  154

Chapter VI  Conclusion  203

WORKS CITED  215

WORKS CONSULTED  221

APPENDIX  228