ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Foremost, I would like to express my sincere gratitude to my Guide Dr. S. V. Kadvekar, Professor D. S. Savakar Chair, Department of Commerce and Research Centre, University of Pune, for his patience, motivation, enthusiasm, and immense knowledge and continuous support during my Ph. D. study and research. His guidance helped me in all the time of research and writing of this thesis. I could not have imagined having a better advisor and mentor for my Ph.D. study. He has been non-judgmental for me and instrumental in instilling confidence having faith in me and my intellect.

I will forever be thankful to Dr Aftab Anwar Shaikh, Senate Member, University of Pune for his encouragement, insightful comments, and hard questions. He is my primary resource for getting my study questions answered and was instrumental in helping at every step of my research.

My sincere thanks also goes to Dr. Sanjay S. Kaptan, Head Department of Commerce & Research Centre, University of Pune for extending cooperation in organising presentations, for all the administrative help and completing all the formalities. I also thank the staff of the Department of Commerce & Research Centre for their cooperation.

I thank Dr Roshan Kazi, Professor and Head of the Department, MBA Programme at Allana Institute of Management Sciences, Pune for extending help in the application of SPSS for Empirical analysis and Hypotheses testing.

I am extremely thankful to Prof. Riyasat Peerzade and Mr. Mudassar Shaikh for their immense help and unconditional support provided to me in preparation of this Ph.D. thesis.

Last but not the least; I would like to thank all my former colleagues from Pharmaceutical industries for extending their whole hearted support. It was possible to complete this study only due to their cooperation and assistance. I owe my sincere thanks to all of them.
