Chapter-I: Introduction

1.1 Introduction
1.2 Concept of services
1.3 Classification of services
1.4 Characteristics of services
1.5 Service innovation
1.6 Objectives of the study
1.7 Methodology
1.8 Limitations of the study
1.9 Chapterization
1.10 Conclusion
1.11 References

Chapter-II: Growth and Development of Service Sector: A Study Through Literature Review

2.1 Introduction
2.2 Growth and development of service sector
2.3 Structure of service sectors
2.4 Different types of service sectors
2.5 Services: hub of economic activity
2.6 Model of service sector
2.7 Difference between goods and services
2.8 Service economy
2.9 Contributions of service sectors
2.10 Factors for growth of service economy
2.11 Role of knowledge workers in the service sector
2.12 Stages of economic development
2.13 Evolution of service sectors
2.14 Indian service sectors
2.15 Brief view of the growth of service sectors in India
2.16 Conclusion
2.17 References
Chapter-III: Prominent Service Sectors: Web Based Study

3.1 Introduction
3.2 Human resource management and development
3.3 Complexity of service
3.4 Hospitality and tourism education and training
3.5 Demands of service sector organization
3.6 Banking services
3.7 The role of technology in banking service
3.8 Changing needs of banking service
3.9 ICICI bank's strategy for promotion of financial inclusion
3.10 Background of state bank of India (SBI)
3.11 Hospitality service sector-tourism and hotels
3.12 Hotel services
3.13 Service strategies, renovations and advertising
3.14 Education as service sector
3.15 Service characteristics implied to education service sector
3.16 The marketing mix and education service
3.17 Service concept in education sector
3.18 Conclusion
3.19 References

Chapter-IV: Overview of Library and Information Services as Service Sector

4.1 Introduction
4.2 Library: An integral part of education
4.3 Library: A service point
4.4 User of library and information services
4.5 Use of academic library services
4.6 Monitoring the services
4.7 Satisfaction of user needs
4.8 Innovativeness in library service
4.9 Conclusion
4.10 References
Chapter-V:
Role of Library and Information Services (LIS) in Promoting Healthy Knowledge Society

5.1 Introduction
5.2 Growing importance of the knowledge society
5.3 Place of libraries in the knowledge society
5.4 Libraries add value to the knowledge society
5.5 Libraries harness information and knowledge
5.6 Critical role of libraries in continuous development of intellectual capital
5.7 Essential element of physical development
5.8 Libraries and citizen empowerment, democracy and E-Government
5.9 Bridging digital divide within and among nations
5.10 Growing awareness in knowledge management
5.11 Marketing and promotion of library services
5.12 Service framework for libraries
5.13 Effect of ICT on LIS service
5.14 Specifications for a knowledge-based society
5.15 Role of librarians in a knowledge-based society
5.16 Required skills for librarians in the age of knowledge
5.17 Conclusion
5.18 References

VI Conclusion

Bibliography