REFERENCES
REFERENCES

88
Drosophila nasuta and D. albomicans of nasuta subgroup of Drosophila.
Dros. Inf. Serv. 88: 93-96.

Ashburner, M. 1970. Patterns of puffing activity in the salivary gland chromosomes of Drosophila. V. Responses to environmental treatments.
Chromosoma. 31: 356–376.

Ashburner, M. 1967 Patterns of puffing activity in the salivary gland chromosomes of Drosophila. I. Autosomal puffing patterns in a laboratory

Laboratory, Cold Spring Harbor, New York, U S A.

activity in salivary glands of Drosophila melanogaster grown in adult willistoni group. VI. Levels of polymorphism and the physiological Ayala, F. J. and Tracey, M. L. 1974. Genetic differentiation within and between 71: 999-1003.

Bakker, K., 1961. An analysis of factors which determines success in competition 14: 200-281.

Barker, J.S.F. 1971. Ecological differences and comparative interaction between Drosophila melanogaster and Drosophila simulans in small laboratory populations. Oecologia, 8: 139-156.

Baudisch, W. and Panitz, R. 1968. Kontrolle eines biochemischen merkmals in den speicheldrusen von acricotopus lucidus durch einen balbiani ring.

Bauer, S. J. and Sokolowski, M.B. 1989. Rover/sitter foraging behaviour in Drosophila melanogaster genetic localization of chromosome 2I: using

Bauer, S.J. and Sokolowski, M.B. 1985. A genetic analysis of path length and Drosophila melanogaster; characterization of the glue proteins and their

Beckman, L. and Johnson, F. M. 1963. Variations in larval alkaline phosphatase controlled by Aph alleles in Drosophila melanogaster. Genetics, 31: 829-835.

MacIntyre, R.J. and Dean, M. R. 1967. Subunits of acid phosphatase-1 in MacIntyre, R.J. 1970. A method for measuring activities of acid phosphatases and comparison of mouse tissue-specific alkaline phosphatase genes.

Genomics. 8: 541-554.

Manning, A. and Markow, T.A. 1981. Light dependant pupation site preference in Drosophila II, Drosophila melanogaster and Drosophila simulans.
Behav. Genet, 11: 557.

Markow, T.A. 1979. A survey of intra and interspecific variation for pupation heat-induced polysomes at puff sites in _Drosophila melanogaster_.

_Drosophila_ larvae make glue; control of sgs-3 gene expression. Trends Genet. 3: 288-293.

Morrison, W. J. and MacIntyre, R. J. 1978. Cytogenetic localization of the acid

Narise, S. and Tominaga, H. 1987. Comparison of purified acid phosphatase allozymes in _Drosophila virilis_: differences in carbohydrate content and phosphatase during ontogenic development of _Anastrepha fracerculus_

Norman, R. A. and Prakash, S. 1980. Activity variation of acid phosphatase-3 among chromosome 3 inversions of _Drosophila pseudoobscura_. Genetics.

Novikoff, A. B. and Goldfischer, S. 1969. Nucleoside diphosphatase activity in the Set. U.S.A.* 47: 802-810.

Tokyo, pp. 99-104.

Ohnishi, S. 1977. Oviposition pattern of several _Drosophila_ species under various Acad. Sci.* 121: 321-349.

Sukhanova, M.Zh., Ankilova, I.A., Gruntenko, N.E., Khlebodarova, T.M., Kaidanov, L.Z. and Rauscenbach, I. Iu. 1998. Alkaline phosphatase in Drosophila melanogaster strains differing in male mating activity and their cells during the early developmental stages. I. Morphological studies.

study of “glue” production and secretion of the salivary glands in different

Biol.* 84: 389-398.

Fine-structure mutational analysis of a stage – and tissue -specific promoter

J. Biosci. 27: 127-134.

