A poet had once said that even if the surface of the earth was converted into paper, the trees of the forests into pens and the seven seas into ink, one shall not be able to express the virtues of a teacher. How can I express my undying gratitude to my noble teacher in a few words then?

It has been a wonderful experience to work with my mentor and my guide, Dr. B. A. Pathan, Professor in English (Retd), Nehru College, Hubli. His guidance was available to me at every step right from the planning of the project up to its accomplishment. He spared much of his valuable time and meticulously scrutinised the manuscript at all stages and offered constructive criticism, which helped me in bringing my work to its present shape. He has proved his mettle and went out of his way, to be a constant source of inspiration. His keen interest, constant supervision and untiring help throughout this work shall remain a life-time debt upon me.

I feel proud in expressing my sincere gratitude to Dr. C. V. Venugopal, Department of English, Karnataka University, Dharwad, for his excellent guidance, valuable help in rendering of adequate facilities for my work. I gratefully acknowledge the co-operative attitude of all the members of the staff of the Department of English, Karnataka University, Dharwad and particularly the members of the Staff of the Ph.D Section which proved a great asset in fulfilling my present task.

I take this opportunity to express my profound sense of reverence and everlasting gratitude to Shri J. R. Kargudri, Retired Principal and Smt. J. J. Kargudri, Retired Principal, Govt. First Grade College, Yellapur, for their constant support who in their own loving way created a congenial and conducive atmosphere for me and gave me their moral support.

Libraries are a store house of knowledge. Books out of library shelves make the world glow with its treasure trove of knowledge. I am indeed indebted to Karnatak University Library and its staff for their cordial help, support and co-operation. My thanks also go to Shri. N. G. Sabhahit, Retired Principal, Bangurnagar Degree College, Dandeli, who took personal interest and helped me to procure books from the college library. My profuse thanks to the librarian of Bangurnagar Degree College, Dandeli. Their help rendered me to see, the Light of the 'Literature World'.

I feel gratefully indebted to my husband, Shri. Kantharaj, whose patience, co-operation, encouragement and constant support helped me to complete my work. I wish to render my gratitude to my late father Dr. Vithaldas who rendered his valuable guidance for my work. I thank my sisters, brothers and other relatives in particular, Dr. Ranjana Vithaldas, Ms.
Pavana Chandrakant, Dr. Chandrakant, Dr. Chetana Vaishnavi, Shri. Vijay Vaishnavi, Shri. Dhanraj V. K., Ms. Meena Dhanraj, Shri. Ghanshyam V. K., Ms. Pooja Ghanshyam, Shri. Navinchandra V. K. and Ms. Dhenuka Navinchandra, for their voluntary co-operation and assistance in their own ways from time to time.

Last but not the least I wish to thank all my friends, colleagues and well-wishers, for their constant inspiration and boosting up my morale to complete my mammoth task.

- PUSHPAKALA V. K.