ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The researcher acknowledges the help received from various quarters. It may not be possible to mention all the names. However, special mention may be made to Dr. D. N. Borthakur, ex. Director, Indian Council of Agricultural Research, North Eastern Hill Region, Barapani, Meghalaya, Prof. S. C. Patra, Director, North Eastern Regional Institute of Water and Land Management, Tezpur and Prof. B. C. Bhowmick, Assam Agricultural University, Jorhat, who provided valuable inputs to the research in this study.

I express my gratitude to Dr. G. Singaiah, my research guide, who had encouraged me to pursue research in this particular area and who constantly inspired me to update my knowledge and look into new insights of the study. Much of the credit goes to him for making me undertake an in-depth study and analysis of this research work.

I wish to acknowledge the help and support of Prof. S. S. Khanka, the Head of the Department of Business Administration of Tezpur University, and all the faculty members of the Department and extend my gratefulness to them for providing me with intellectual inputs from time to time. I extend my profound gratitude to late Prof. M. C. Bora, former Head of the Department of Business Administration of Tezpur University, who had ignited my mind to look at the research topic from different perspectives.

I am also grateful to all concerned governmental officials and members of the N. G. O.s, the supporting organizations, eminent persons from the society and the target segment who extended their cooperation during the study and with whose help this study could possible.

My family had been my pillar of strength; I would like to acknowledge the support and encouragement received from each one of them in this endeavor.
