This is a study about the marriage alliance and its ramifications in two villages of Karnataka, viz., Kodavangpet in Coorg and Gulwar in Gulbarga districts. (Kodavangpet and Gulwar are the pseudonyms of the villages). The intensive field investigation was conducted between 1974-75 and 1976-77 in Kodavangpet and Gulwar respectively. The research was supported by a junior and subsequently a senior research fellowship from the Council of Scientific and Industrial Research.

The work was done under the illustrious supervision of Professor Gopala Sarna, the Head, Department of Anthropology, Lucknow University, Lucknow. It is he who initiated me into the discipline of Anthropology and has taken keen interest in my work and career. He is a source of intellectual inspiration to many and I am one of them. His expertise has made my understanding more perceptive. I consider myself fortunate to have been his student and am privileged to have worked under his infallible guidance. By association with him has made me more aware of certain crucial issues in kinship studies in particular and Anthropology in general. I remain very much indebted to him for all the help and encouragement I received. I am also grateful to his family members who were kind and hospitable to me during my visits to Lucknow.

The draft chapters were discussed with my esteemed teachers and colleagues in the Department. In spite of their preoccupations, they were interested and tolerant to discuss with me some of the important issues and problems concerned to me. In particular, I must acknowledge my gratitude to Dr. B.G. Halbar and Dr. Prabha Mahale who have given me invaluable advice and have helped me.

resolve many of my doubts. But for Dr. Prabha Mahale, I would not have taken up the research work. I owe a special debt of gratitude to her for her sympathies and encouragement.

My sincere thanks to Professor K.G. Gurumurthy, the Head, F.G. Department of Anthropology, Karnataka University, Shriramad for his support in the completion of my work.

I also extend my gratitude to Professor K.P. Srivastava, the Head, Department of Anthropology, Poona University, Poona, for his encouragement.

My thanks are also due to Dr. P.E. Gai and Srv. A.C. Guangel who have been of help to me at different stages of my work.

I remain deeply indebted to the people of Kodavangpet and Gulwar without whose cooperation and tolerance, my work would not have seen the light of the day.
