ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

This research work could not have been completed without the help of some people who were a constant source of motivation to me and to whom I would like to acknowledge and express my love, respect, and gratitude.

At the very beginning I would sincerely thank Dr. Munira Lokhandwala (Associate Professor, Department of English, Abeda Inamdar Senior College of Arts, Science and Commerce, Pune) my research guide, who has provided her valuable suggestions, and guided me throughout my research work, kept me motivated, and who has been very cooperative to supervise my research in every possible way.

My heartiest thanks go to Dr. Ashok Thorat, Director of the Institute of Advanced Studies in English, Pune, for his suggestions and for providing me with his precious time for discussion.

I would also like to thank Dr. L. G. Patil, Associate Professor, Department of English, A. T. College, Bhor, for developing in me the interest in pragmatics and for helping me in a number of ways, in every step, towards the finalization of the research work.

A word of gratitude also goes to Prof. T. N. Murkute, Vice-Principal of Waghire College (Retd.), Saswad, for his suggestions, help and support.

I also express my gratitude to the authorities and the Librarians of British Library, The Library of Deccan College Post Graduate and Research Institute (Deemed University), Pune, The Library of Waghire College, Saswad, Pune; Jaikar Library, Pune; The Library of A. T.
College, Bhor; The Library of Hojai Girls’ College, Assam, and above all the Library of the Institute of Advanced Studies in English, Pune.

Finally, I would like to thank my parents, Late Ashit Baran Chowdhury and Mrs. Joya Chowdhury, without the blessings of whom I would have certainly not succeeded in my work. My heartfelt thanks go to Mr. Ashok Kumar Varma and Ms. Rajkali Devi, my father-in-law and mother-in-law, respectively. I also extend my thanks to my sisters-in-law and brother-in-law (Shankar Kumar Verma) for their constant support. I would also express my gratitude to my brother for his co-operation and support. And, I am very grateful to my husband, Dr. Bishnu Prasad Varma, for his unyielding help and support during the course of my research work, and would not forget to thank my son Reyansh, for being a source of inspiration to me.

Date: Sunayana Chowdhury Varma