ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

This thesis is the outcome of long research life with the help, support of a large number of people and I privilege to acknowledge them.

First of all, very special thanks to my advisor, Dr. Rakhi Dasgupta and Prof. Tarakdas Basu for offering me the opportunity to work with them and bearing me throughout the entire period. They gave me confidence (be it scientific work or organising an event) and support in all odds. I appreciate their contributions of time, encouragement when things looked dreary, advice, patience, and trust, which kept me going and made my Ph.D. experience productive and stimulating.

I am also thankful to Dr. Angshuman Bagchi for his immense effort in my bioinformatics research work, without whom it was impossible for me to get a grasp of this field.

I would like to thank Prof. Tapan Kumar Das, Prof. Asoke Prasun Chattopadhyay, and Dr. Alpana Seal for their concern, encouragement and belief in me. I would like to thank all the rest of the academic and support staff (especially Chaitali pisi) of Department of Biochemistry and Biophysics, University of Kalyani. I am deeply grateful to the Hon’ble Vice-Chancellor Prof. Rattan Lal Hangloo, University of Kalyani, UGC, Govt. of India for the trust and support.

Members of our lab have been an intrinsic part of my PhD life; Bimal da, Subrata da, Pulakesh da – my senior lab mates and my trainer, Monobesh – my best partner, Ruchira – my heart, Milon, Riya, Mousumi, Debanjan, Sanchari remained as a part in all my work and living throughout these long years. In our department we feel as we are one family – I must thank, Suman da for his guidance (in academic and non-academic issues); Abhishek da and Rajdeep da for their spirit, Rajabrata – as one of my teacher, Satarupa, Sayantani, Debashree, Ratan, Surojit – my dear, Semanti and Nikhat. I would also like to thank Piaus, Biplab and Char-murti Sarita, Shreyosi, Surovi and Payel – my brothers and sisters in all deeds; Partha and Animesh - two of my master’s degree friend and Nur – my responsible fellowship partner.

No verbal expression is sufficient to recognize the efforts rendered by the members of my family; my father and Chhoto-mama – two supervisors of my life, my two buddy Babai & Tutan for all the joyous moments we shared together, my in-laws for their belief and support.

Finally my hostel mates, specially Arindam da – most talented person that I have ever seen, Nirupam da, Bisu da, Sankar, Rajat, Ayan, Kader, Pabitra and Mrinal during all these years when I feel ghastly, they became the light of my life.

Thank you all.

Department of Biochemistry & Biophysics Sourav Singha Roy
University of Kalyani
Kalyani-741235