CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION

1

CHAPTER-I: INTRODUCTION TO SEMIOTICS

SECTION-1: GROWTH AND DEVELOPMENT OF SEMIOTICS

1.0. INTRODUCTION 12

1.1. FERDINAND de SAUSSURE 18

1.1.1. Synchronic and diachronic
1.1.2. Form and substance
1.1.3. la langue and la parole
1.1.4. Sign: signifier and signified
1.1.5. Syntagmatic and paradigmatic dimensions

1.2. C.S.PEIRCE 27

1.2.1. Typology of signs

1.3. RUSSIAN FORMALISM 31

1.3.1. Different schools and phases
1.3.2. Mikhail Bakhtin
1.3.3. Vladimir Propp
1.3.4. Conclusion

1.4. THE PRAGUE SCHOOL 39

1.4.1. Semiotic concerns
1.4.2. Roman Jacobson
1.4.3. Non-verbal sign systems
1.4.4. Semiotics of theatre

1.5. THE FRENCH SCHOOL 48

1.5.1. Tel Quel
1.5.2. Roland Barthes
1.5.2.1. Denotation and connotation
1.5.3. Jacques Lacan
1.5.4. Claude Lévi-Strauss
1.5.5. Michel Foucault
1.6. THE CURRENT SCENE

1.6.1. The Tatru School - Jurij Lotman
1.6.2. Paris School of Semiotics - A.J. Greimas
1.6.3. Umberto Eco's Theory of Semiotics
1.6.4. Edward Said and the discourse of Orientalism
1.6.5. Conclusion

SECTION-2: SEMIOTICS AND PERFORMANCE STUDIES

1.7. INTRODUCTION

1.8. SEMIOTICS OF THEATRE

1.8.1. Signs in the theatre
1.8.2. Icon, index and symbol
1.8.3. Ostension
1.8.4. Meaning in theatre
1.8.5. Keir Elam
1.8.6. Patrice Pavis

1.9. THE ETHNOGRAPHY OF PERFORMANCE

1.9.1. Dell Hymes
1.9.2. Richard Bauman
   1.9.2.1 Frames - Keying of the performance
   1.9.2.2 Emergent quality of performance

NOTES AND REFERENCES

CHAPTER-II: YAKŠAGĀNA AND THE PERFORMING ARTS OF SOUTH INDIA

SECTION-1: THE LAND AND THE PEOPLE

2.1. THE CHANGING SCENE

SECTION-2: YAKŠAGĀNA AND OTHER FOLK THEATRE FORMS

2.2.1. Yakṣagāna: etymology and meaning
2.2.2. A style of music
2.2.3. Regional variants
2.3. OTHER FOLK THEATRE FORMS OF KARNATAKA

2.3.1. Mudalapāya yakṣagāna
2.3.2. Sanṇāṭa and other forms

2.4. OTHER SOUTH INDIAN PERFORMING ARTS

2.4.1. Kathakali
2.4.2. Terukkūttu
2.4.3. Telugu yakṣagāna

2.5. THE COMMON FEATURES

2.5.1. Open air performance
2.5.2. The role of music
2.5.3. The prominence of dance
2.5.4. Use of the traditional curtain
2.5.5. Emphasis on víra and raudra emotions
2.5.6. Performed only by men

2.6. CLASSICAL AND FOLK INTERACTION

2.6.1. The influence of Bhakti Movement

CHAPTER-III: STRUCTURE AND MEANING OF YAKṢAGĀNA

SECTION-1: SYNTAGMATIC ANALYSIS

3.0. THE STRUCTURE OF YAKṢAGĀNA PERFORMANCE

3.1. PRELIMINARIES PRIOR TO THE PERFORMANCE

3.1.1. The musical interlude
3.1.2. The rituals performed in the cauki

3.2. PRELIMINARIES PERFORMED ON THE STAGE

3.2.1. The bālagōpālas
3.2.2. Strīvēṣa-female characters
3.2.3. Oḍḍālaga: First appearance of characters
3.3. THE PRASANGA AND ITS PERFORMANCE

3.3.1. The prasanga
3.3.2. The structure of the prasanga
   3.3.2.1. The analysis of the prasanga, Kicaka Vadhe
3.3.3. Nade - the oral convention regarding performance
3.3.4. The performance text
   3.3.4.1. The performance text of Kicaka Vadhe
3.3.5. The metaphors of battle and marriage

3.4. MANGALĀ - THE CLOSING PRAYER

3.5. THE CONCLUDING PRAYER IN THE CAUKI (MAKE-UP ROOM)

SECTION-2: PARADIGMATIC ANALYSIS

3.6. FUNCTION AND SIGNIFICANCE OF SABHĀLAKṢĀṆA AND OḌḌŌLAGA
   3.6.1. Sabhālakṣāṇa
   3.6.2. Oḍḍōlagā

3.7. NARRATOLOGY OF THE PRASANGA
   3.7.1. The influence of Harikathe
   3.7.2. The narrative mode

3.8. THE STRUCTURE OF ORGANISATION
   3.8.1. Bayalāṭada mēla - open-air troupes
   3.8.2. Commercial 'tent' troupes
      3.8.2.1. Contract system
      3.8.2.2. Condition of the artistes
   3.8.3. The economic status
   3.8.4. The peripheral activities

3.9. THE STRUCTURE OF THE AUDIENCE
   3.9.1. Open-air troupes
   3.9.2. 'Tent' troupes
   3.9.3. Regional differences
3.10. THE CONCEPT OF SPACE IN YAKṢAGĀNA

3.10.1. The performance space
3.10.2. The stage space
3.10.3. The conventions

CHAPTER-IV: YAKṢAGĀNA AS MULTICHANNEL COMMUNICATION

4.0. MULTICHANNEL COMMUNICATION SYSTEMS

4.1. MUSIC

4.1.1. Delineation of a song
4.1.2. Current trends
4.1.3. The function of music

4.2. DANCE

4.2.1. Types of dances
  4.2.1.1. Preliminary dances
  4.2.1.2. Oddōlaga
  4.2.1.3. Exit and entry
  4.2.1.4. Set sequences
  4.2.1.5. Dance and battles
  4.2.1.6. Dance and song elaboration
  4.2.2. Mudrās (gestures)
4.2.3. The function of dance
4.2.4. Movement and meaning

4.3. THE IMPROVISED TEXT

4.3.1. Intertextuality
4.3.2. Language
4.3.3. The mythical past and the present
4.3.4. Current trends
4.3.5. Multiple articulation - the problem of redundancy