Acknowledgments

Intellect is a natural gift that enables a person to serve mankind by exposing potential of various human faculties in terms of knowledge. This knowledge is further translated into social, political, economic and cultural structures which contribute to the development of any society. In this way intellectual exercise is supposed to be a service and love oriented activity. Academic research is a laborious task that latently or indirectly monitors human race to the point of sustainability. It brings out hidden facts about nature and world. It is a creative and imaginative exercise which helps to learn from past experience.

I feel blessed that I got opportunity to participate in this very exercise to cultivate my own intellectual skills and capacities as a student. Though I am solely appear concerned with the present study but indirectly there are so many persons who have contributed a lot to execute it. So, I must show courtesy to appreciate those who deserve respect for the assistance provided by them and from moral point of view, it is my obligatory duty as well.

First of all I am thankful to Almighty for conferring upon me the aptitude to pursue this research work. Because of His grace only I have come to resolve the problem and complexities of the topic. It enabled me to understand the job of a learner. A heavenly motivation, during these years, made me to remain focused on the learning process; otherwise it was impossible for me to be a researcher.

I would like to pay my respect and gratitude to my esteemed supervisor Dr. Balwant Singh Dhillon under whose gracious guidance I have completed this study. For his students, he is not only a good mentor but a fatherly figure as well. His professional proficiency and academic vision helped me to formulate and to finalize the work in an academic manner. So I am grateful to him for his academic support and guidance.

My thanks also go to faculty members and non-teaching staff, of Department of Guru Nanak Studies and library staff of Guru Nanak Dev University for their invaluable help.

I acknowledge a deep sense of gratitude to authors whose thoughts and insights have been cited by me to justify and to elaborate my own ideas. Their insights stirred my mind to explore further possibilities of the topic under inquiry.

I am indebted to Prof. Jagdish Singh whose motivation enabled me to enhance my spiritual and cognitive faculties. He holds an intensive affection for students involved in reading-learning process and he also symbolizes the spirit of teacher who is devoted to students and academy.

I acknowledge a sense of respect for Dr. N. Muthu Mohan for his valuable suggestions.

My earnest gratitude goes to my parents (S. Harbhajan Singh/Amarjit Kaur) and other family members particularly my wife Amarjit Kaur, who shared my burden of household responsibilities and relieved me to engage myself in study. Flowery innocence of Naadi, Japuji, Abhi and Anilka were also a source of energetic inspiration.

I also recall my departed family members, Smt. Gurbachan Kaur (grandmother), Sh. Mohinder Ram (a father like personality), and Sh. Kulwinder Ram (friend).

I am grateful to Amaninder Singh for his help in proof reading and I must thank to all those friends who assisted me in whatsoever manner to complete this study.

At last I am sincerely thankful to University Grants Commission for financial help in the form of scholarship; otherwise it would have been totally impossible for me to be a part of academic research.

Once again thanks to all.
