ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I wish to acknowledge with a deep sense of reverence, my gratitude to my research supervisor Prof. V.P. Giri, Director, Manipur Institute of Management Studies, Manipur University, Imphal, who himself being an academician with sharp management acumen, foresight and a sense of social purpose gave me the motivation and inspired me to this research study. I am grateful to him for all the encouragement and inspiration given to me during the course of the study and for providing valuable critical comments on it.

I also express my profound sense of gratitude to Prof. V.S. Pai, Department of Management, Gulbarga University, Karnataka for the consistent support provided to me during the course of the study.

The consistent support provided by Dr. B. B. Pradhan, Head, Department of Commerce, Manipur University, Imphal is also gratefully acknowledged.

I am also indebted to Dr. Rajmani Singha, Assistant Professor, Department of Commerce, Manipur University, Imphal for his valuable suggestions at the various stages of the study.

I also extend my sincere thanks to Mr. K.P. Rao, Asst. Director, Development Commissioner (Handicrafts), Marketing & Service Extension Centre, Ministry of Textiles, Imphal and the officials of the Handloom Section, Directorate of Industries, Tamenglong, Imphal for all the possible help given to me during the study.

I acknowledge my thanks to Mr. M. Hussain, Senior Lecturer, Indian Institute of Handloom Technology, Guwahati, Mr. S.P. Sukla, Director, Indian Institute of Handloom Technology, Guwahati, Mr. A.R. Bora, Asst. Director, Weavers Service Centre, Guwahati, Mr. G. Nair, Executive Director, Handloom Export Promotion Council, Madras, Shri V.P. Singh, Managing Director, National Cooperative Development Corporation, New Delhi for providing valuable information which has been helpful to the study.

I would also like to thank all the 800 individual weavers for the valuable information and responses provided to me while collecting the primary data without which the study would have been impossible.

Finally, I convey my thanks to my friends and colleagues for all the assistance willingly offered during the study.
