SUGGESTIONS FOR FURTHER RESEARCH

1. In the present investigation the ritualistic adherence of the individual to his religious practices has not been considered either in influencing the social perception or in its impact on the operation of EQ. Since it is an important factor in influencing the social perceptual processes it needs to be explored as a factor in social perceptual process.

2. The role of education in influencing the social perception: as in the present study the sample is from the college students, the differential impact of differential exposure to education has not been studied.

3. The differential impact of urban-rural environment has also not been taken into consideration which may also be explored.

4. The gender differentiation in the social perceptual process also needs to be explored.

5. The impact of socio-economic status on the intra- and intercultural perception in general including its impact on the operations of the EI needs to be explored.
