INDEX

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Serial</th>
<th>Content</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Chapter - I</td>
<td>Introduction&lt;br&gt;Research Problem and Area of Research,&lt;br&gt;Objectives of this study,&lt;br&gt;Hypothesis,&lt;br&gt;Review of Literature,&lt;br&gt;Meanings of Street Vendors,&lt;br&gt;Street Vendors – Definitions,&lt;br&gt;Human Resource Management,&lt;br&gt;Methodology,&lt;br&gt;Instruments of Data Generation,&lt;br&gt;Field Work Experience,&lt;br&gt;Limitations,&lt;br&gt;Scheme of the Study,&lt;br&gt;Bibliography</td>
<td>1 – 42</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chapter - II</td>
<td>Background of Street vendors &amp; Area of research&lt;br&gt;Introduction of Bengaluru,&lt;br&gt;History of Bengaluru,&lt;br&gt;Study area and its significance,&lt;br&gt;Representation of Street vendors included in this study with types of business,&lt;br&gt;Representation of product procurement sources by street vendors,&lt;br&gt;Product management cycle by street vendors,&lt;br&gt;Pricing strategy by street vendors,&lt;br&gt;Age group Composition of Street vendors,&lt;br&gt;Religious Background,&lt;br&gt;Street vending work hour requirement per day,&lt;br&gt;Days of Work in a week,&lt;br&gt;Composition of gender ratio,&lt;br&gt;Conclusion</td>
<td>47 - 77</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chapter - III</td>
<td>Role of street vendors and business strategy covering human resource management techniques&lt;br&gt;Introduction to HRM &amp; street vending&lt;br&gt;Understanding of Human Resource Management Terminology&lt;br&gt;Human Resource Management Techniques adapted by street vendors&lt;br&gt;No of people partnering or being employed in Street vending&lt;br&gt;Salary/Commercial terms used to reward people employed/partnering in street business&lt;br&gt;Salary management methods&lt;br&gt;Measures to track business and individual performance on the job&lt;br&gt;Methods of benchmarking performance and pricing</td>
<td>78- 120</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Criteria for Recruitment adapted by street vendors,
Techniques to check on performance of employees
Attrition in street vending

Street Vendors: Entrepreneurs with management skills
Lessons of management learnt from street vending
Trade practices that make street vending successful business
Best practices & the sharing of best practice amongst peer vendors
Element of risk in street vending
Choices for suitable trade location
Means & ways of tracking profit and loss
Need for planning and business strategy in street vending
Frequency of change in services and products sold
Factors for influencing decision making in your business
Leadership qualities - the key asset for successful street-vending entrepreneurs

Conclusion

Chapter - IV Socio-economic & cultural background of street vendors 121 - 150

Introduction to socio-economic and cultural background of street vendors of Bengaluru,
Composition of family size,
Dependents of street vendors,
Earning hands in their families contributing to family income,
Family members involved in street vending business and business support,
Net income of street vendors per day from street vending activity after all deductions,
Total family annual income,
Overall financial status of street vendors,
Social status of street vendors in society with street vending as a profession,
Stress relieving activity adapted by street vendors,
Habits that have directly or indirectly been cultivated as a direct result of street vending,
Status depicting housing & shelter methods adapted by street vendors,
Status on housing & shelter adapted by street vendors,
Types of houses street vendors dwell in,
Modes of financial assistance available to street vendors,
Health and sanitation at work place,
Health and sanitation at homes,
Reflection of culture and traditions amongst street vendors,

Conclusion

Chapter - V Educational mobility & aspiration of street vendors 151 - 175

Composition of educational levels amongst male-street vendors and their families,
Education level amongst female street vendors and their families,
Education level amongst transgender street vendors and their families,
Reasons for discontinued education amongst street vendors,
Desire to learn amongst street vendors,
Changing trends in education amongst street vendors,
Personal aspiration of growth amongst street vendors,
Professional growth street vendors aspire for their children,
Composition of source for understanding the business of street vending,
Techniques adapted by male street vendors to improve performance,
Techniques adapted by female street vendors to improve performance,
Methods used for learning adapted street vendors,
Conclusion

Chapter – VI NGO’s and associations involved in street vending & their contributions to street vendors

NGO’s and associations involved in street vending,
& their contributions to street vendors,
Significance of NGO’s in assisting street vendors,
Role of street vendor associations in assisting street vendors,
Role of street vending unions and association,
Political influence on associations,
Areas of conflict between vendors and their associations,
Awareness amongst respondents of government policies,
-for welfare of Street vendors,
Street vendors’ interpretation on Implementation of government policies -
-and its impact,
Segments of society harassing street vendors,
Coping techniques to handle harassment,
Government help available on bettering living conditions -
-and welfare measures,
Conclusion

Chapter – VII Conclusion and suggestions

Conclusion Remarks,
Summarization of Chapters,
Observations and Findings: Management inclined Trade secrets:
Leadership oriented finds: Social and society based finds,
Hypothesis,
Recommendations and Suggestions: Social; Health; Educational; Economic;
Cultural & Political,
Implications for Further Research

Appendix - I: Policies & Legislation on street vending
Appendix - II: Interview Schedule
Appendix - III: Glimpse of Street vending
Bibliography