Acknowledgement

Praise is to GOD who always enables me to get the success in whatever I do. He, the ALMIGHTY granted me the willpower and tolerance to start doing and accomplishing such a distinctive work in a critical time when a person sees fragments and remains of a smashed home.

First of all, I would like to express my honest gratitude to my academic supervisor Prof. B. S. JADHAV, whom I’m heavily indebted to for guiding and providing me with several valuable instructions and suggestions from the honored moment we met. The academic distinction, the clear-cut comments, and the highly appreciated suggestions he did provide, resulted a praiseworthy work represented by the current research production. I will never forget the overexertion he always burdened for projecting this work in a superior form. When we came to the last stage of submitting this work his proof reading was the critical mark for launching the boat that carries this thesis forwards to the ocean of knowledge. To him, I should say, you are really a role model to emulate sir.

I would also like to acknowledge a constellation of friends and colleagues who did always help me getting necessary supportive sources and references serve to the part of this research all along. From them, I should mention DR. ABDULHAMEED ALSHUJA’A, the Director of Community Center for Translation and Language Teaching CCTLT. Mr. ABDULWADOOD ANNUZAILI, Mr. KHALED AL-MAWERI, Dr. AHMED AL-ABASSI, Dr. ALI AL-JALAL and Mr. MOHAMMED ALI SON’AH.

I would also like to acknowledge my colleagues in the faculty of languages who really inspired me to greater efforts in my research. That was, in fact, through their valuable feedback, elaborated answers to the questionnaire given to them. They promoted me as a researcher to perceive and follow certain directions and concepts while conducting this research.

A special word of thanks has to be delivered to BUSHRA AL-ASHMORI for her ceaseless provision of many related materials I asked from HER.

Finally and most importantly, I thank my parents, SALMA and MOHAMMED, for their faith on me and granting me unceasing opportunities to be ambitious as I wanted. I would also like to thank my wife HANAN (warm-heartedness). To her I should say, “You are the hidden power behind my success and the secret of my survival”. I thank my CHILDREN who suffered my absence a lot.
