ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

As a matter of external compliance, at the outset, I bow to thank Lord Buddha, one of the incarnations of almighty God who enabled me through his liberal blessings to accomplish this venture.

I am highly grateful to the Government of Sri Lanka for providing me financial assistance in the form of fellowship and Government of India for providing me an opportunity to pursue my Ph. D programme at CSKHPKV, Palampur (HP).

I want to thank wholeheartedly to chairman of my advisory committee, Dr. A.S. Saini, Professor, Department of Agricultural Economics with whom I have worked very closely since January 2006. I am grateful to have had the privilege of his excellent and articulate academic guidance, motivation, support and encouragement. I am heavily indebted for his patience and continuous support during difficult times, when it seemed too difficult on my part. I have learnt lifetime lessons from his critical comments and discussions.

I am also deeply indebted to my advisory committee members, Dr. K.D. Sharma and Dr. D.R. Thakur, senior scientists, Department of Agricultural Economics, Dr. Kamalesh Singh, Professor and Head, Department of Physics, Mathematics & Statistics, Dr. J.S. Sohi, Professor and Head, Department of Extension & Education and Dr. C.M. Sharma, Professor, Department of Soil Science for their academic guidance, constructive comments on the draft of the thesis and encouragements.

I am availing this opportunity to express my thanks to Dr. R.K. Sharma, Professor and Head, Department of Agricultural Economics for providing necessary facilities and support during the course of my study.

I also express my sincere thanks to the faculty and staff members of Department of Agricultural Economics for their cordial help and co-operation provided to me during the course of this investigation, as and when required.

I am really obliged and deeply indebted to the Director and Board of Management, Tea Research Institute of Sri Lanka, for granting me the opportunity to carry out my Ph. D programme. I would also like to thank the executive Director, Council for Agricultural Research Policy (CARP), Sri Lanka for their financial support. It would not have been possible for me to initiate and complete my study without their continuing financial support. My thanks are due to ICAR, New Delhi (India) for selecting me as a Ph. D scholar under scholarship programme.
I take this opportunity to convey my sincere thanks to Dr. T. Pratap, Vice-Chancellor, Dr. S.C. Sharma, Director of Research, Dr. P.K. Sharma, Dean, Postgraduate Studies, Dr. O.P. Sharma, Dean, College of Agriculture, CSKHPKV, Palampur for providing me conducive environment for the completion of this study.

I will always remember the support and encouragement provided by Mrs. Asoka Jakody, Head, Department of Agricultural Economics, Tea Research Institute of Sri Lanka.

I also want to acknowledge the cordial and enthusiastic support extended by Ms., Kusuma and Mrs.Brij Bala during the survey in Kangra district. I would like to express my sincere gratitude to Mr. K.A. Kuruppu and K.R. Edirisinghe, Senior Tea Inspectors, Tea Small Holding Authority for their support extended to me during data collection in Nuwara Eliya district. I am also indebted to the people of both the study areas. Without their participation and co-operation it would not have been possible for me to conduct my research. From the core of my heart, I thank all the people who participated in this study.

Thanks are due to my seniors, Dr. Bharti, Shantha, Sonika, Atul and Amit and juniors, Swati, Rachna and Wagendra for their support and encouragement.

I wish to acknowledge the support I have received from my family and relatives. I express my sincere gratitude to my mother, father in -law, my brother, sisters, brother in -laws and sister in -laws for looking after my family and for giving me the time to concentrate on my studies.

I always felt the pain of separation of my loving son, Chamath who might have reserved his feelings during the period of my Ph.D. I am deeply grateful to my son for making me happy all the times. Without his love I could not have accomplished this work.

My loving husband, Ranasinghe stimulated me to take up the challenge to start my Ph. D and finish it. His unconditional help, unceasing moral support, caring attitude and invaluable contribution have bounded me for ever under his debt that I may not be able to pay back in any form at least during my this birth.

 Needless to say, errors and omissions are mine.

Place: Palampur, (H.P)
Dated: August 2008

(H.W. Shyamalie)