The spirit of sacrifice is the hallmark of true education. It is not the value of the things that counts; it is the loftiness of the impulse behind the act. The lotus of the mind residing in the lake of the human heart will blossom when the light of divinity illumines it. All education, all wealth, all-ritualistic worship is of no value without genuine devotion to God. Therefore, first I would like to thank the Almighty, for being generous and source inner support for me.

I would like to owe a debt of gratitude towards my esteemed guide Prof. Devendra Singh Rathore, Department of Pharmaceutical Sciences, Suresh GyanVihar University, Jaipur. I feel proud to have been associated with the best teacher. His instilled vision of research skill, innovative ideas, valuable suggestions and calibre showed me the right path to go through my work. I am thankful to God and highly honoured to work under such an excellent academician. His quality of sincerity and punctuality towards work motivates me. His calm nature patience listening gave enough flexibility to exercise my thought and to design program to attain the anticipated goal. Being a person he gives immense happiness and feels honoured to be his disciple and learn all these things that help to build a better future. All the inspiration thoughts that he imparts are important lessons of life and our ever worthwhile.

I express my sincere appreciation and gratitude to the teaching faculty of the GyanVihar School of Pharmacy, for their help and support during my academic career.

I sincerely express my gratitude to Prof. S. C. Dwivedi, Dean Research, & Mr. Gaurav Sharma, DGC co-ordinator, Suresh GyanVihar University, Jaipur, for their valuable suggestions, time, patience, listening, constructive criticism sharp guidance to overcome my problems throughout the project work.

I have no words to express my vast indebtedness and warm gratitude to all my seniors for their help, co-operation and selfless support needed.

Even as a Jasmine creeper fills an entire forest with its fragrance, a noble friend glorifies not only their family, but also their entire clan and surroundings. I am thankful to Mr. Anand Mahalwar. There is no language or poetry that can adequately describe my love towards my friends. The winning spirit in my attitude, bearing an conversation is the outcome of their selfless support.

As a prayer is always soothing land as a genuine wish is always touching, parents are blessings. Their pure loved and firm faith on me encourage me to achieve anything in life. They taught me true human qualities like calmness, forbearance, compassion, love, respect and self-reliance. These qualities mould my character and character decides destiny. It is a great opportunity to thank them for what they have done for me.

I am thankful to my brothers, sister and all my family members for telling me true human qualities of compassion, love, respect and self-reliance.

I am cordially thankful to Mummy ji for her boundless love, selfless contribution, constant encouragement, care and affection. Although Papa ji is not with us, he will truly live in our memories forever. His presence will always be felt with a loving heart. My special thanks to my father-in-law and mother-in-law for their valuable support time to time during my project.

I am thankful to All India Institute of Medical Sciences (AIIMS) Delhi, for providing all the required facilities for studies of samples.

I am thankful to Ind-Swift (India) Ltd. Chandigarh for providing generously the free gift sample of clarithromycin.

“Silences make the real conversations between relations, for its not the saying but never needing to say that counts”. Mere words are not enough for my dear wife NIDHI for everlasting love, support and care that helped me to stay focused on my project work. At last I am thankful to the special children whose heavenly tele voices give me strength and enthusiasm, they are none other than SAUMYA my daughter and APAAR my son. I could complete this work only because of them and I will never be able to repay them never ever.

Last but not the least I thank the Almighty for giving me strength, will and wisdom to carry out the project work successfully.
