ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

First and foremost, I offer my heartiest thanks to Almighty Allah, the most Merciful and the most Beneficent who showered upon me the power and means to complete this thesis.

It is my pleasure to express sound perception of gratitude to my research supervisor, Dr. Mujeebur Rahman Khan, Associate Professor, Department of Plant Protection, Faculty of Agricultural Sciences, Aligarh Muslim University, Aligarh, India. His valuable guidance, intellectual curiosity, articulate manner, healthy criticism, affectionate attitude and regular encouragement throughout my studies inspired me to work hard with confidence and dedication.

I wish to acknowledge with thanks Prof. P. L. Rizvi, Chairman, and Prof. Akhtar Haseeb, Ex-Chairman, Department of Plant Protection, Faculty of Agricultural Sciences, Aligarh Muslim University, for providing facilities to carry out the research. I am highly grateful to my all teachers, especially Dr. M.S. Ansari and Dr. S. Ashraf, and also Dr. R.U. Khan and Dr. (Mrs.) M. Haseeb for their consistent encouragement and help.

I wish to acknowledge the Junior Research Fellowship awarded to me through a research project entitled “Studies on the effect of sulphur dioxide and Alternaria species, singly and jointly on the indigenous germplasm of mustard (SP/SO/A-04/2001)” sanctioned to Dr. Mujeebur Rahman Khan by Department of Science and Technology, Ministry of Science and Technology, Govt. of India. The present thesis is a part of the research work done in the project. The award of Project Fellow through a UGC Major Research Project entitled “Integrated management of wilt disease complex of pigeonpea caused by Fusarium udum and Meloidogyne incognita {431-32/2006(SR)} under the supervision of my guide is also acknowledged here.

The moral support extended by my seniors, Dr. S. Majid, Dr. M. Pathak and Dr. M. H. Dar has been a strength to sustain to do research and outcome with this work. I wish to extend special thanks Dr. Fayaz Ahmad Mohiddin for elderly treatment. I have had the good fortune to be associated with a number of friends namely Rumanna, Haider, Nadeem, Arshad Anwer, Abuzar, Arshad Ali (Dr.), Reshu and Azam (Medical Microbiology); and my Juniors Uzma and Ziaul Haq.
who had a yawning effect and helped me in one way or the other during my research. Words cannot suffice the help, support and encouragement that Sawood and Adnan has extended to me in my hosteller life. Thanks are due to Tamo Peter (Dr.) for being there for help and cooperation during my rush hour of my life. Your presences have benefited me a lot. Very special thanks go out to Mr. Mohd. Sajjad Ahmad Khan. It is because of you, I developed a focus of new vision and human factors. I thank you Sajjad Khan for being there for me whenever and wherever I needed you.

I acknowledge Darakshan Apa for issuing me desired books for quiet a longer time with her precious dua and encouragements. I also wish to thank Raghib Bhai, Aman Bhai, Guddu Bhai, Amir Bhai, Akbar Bhai and Anjum Madam for their regular assistance and cooperation in laboratory work, especially to Raghib Bhai to bear my impatience while issuing the chemicals and equipments for my research work.

Above all, I am highly indebted to my beloved mother and father for their knack direction and blessing throughout my life. I do miss today the blessing of my father. My father inspired and encouraged me for dedication in research and felt pride whatever little I achieved ever. I am grateful to my elder brother, Mr. Azad Khan, without his care, help and love I could not have been whatever I am today. I am immensely thank to my brother and sisters Azam, Mohammad (Ningthem), Sofiya, Saaziya, Eche Thoi and Bhabhi for their affection, appreciation and love that shown for me. I wish to give special thanks to my father in law, Mr. Mumtaz Ali and Shabanam, sister in law for their moral support and cooperation during critical periods of the work. The love for me expressed by my loving younger, Anisha, Irfan, Hamzah, Muaaz and a little mammie (abemma) have been invaluable assets.

I am extremely thankful to my wife Salma for the support, care and affection showered upon me. Without her help it would not have been possible for me to finish my work and apologize for not able to give time due to spending hours to prepare this script.
