Acknowledgements

I would like to acknowledge with thanks and express my sincere gratitude to my supervisor, Dr. Anuradha Banerjee, Associate Professor, Centre for the Study of Regional Development (CSRD), Jawaharlal Nehru University (JNU), New Delhi, for her invaluable advice and suggestions, generosity and patient hearing that she has extended during the preparation of this doctoral research. She has supervised the study thoroughly and has given me full freedom to work. Without her encouragement, guidance, constructive criticism and support, this effort would not have succeeded.

I am grateful to Professor Nandu Ram, Dean, School of Social Sciences, JNU, New Delhi and Professor R.S. Srivastava, Chairperson, CSRD, JNU, New Delhi, for giving me the opportunity to pursue my work and allow me to use all the facilities of the centre during my work.

I, in my all sincerity, convey my deep sense of gratitude to Prof. Aslam Mahmood during the formulation of the synopsis of my thesis. Prof Mahmood has helped me with constructive ideas, encouragement and inspiration. I am also grateful to Prof. A.H. Kidwai, Dr B. Zushi, Prof. P.M. Kulkarni, Prof. Sudesh Nangia, Prof. A. Kundu, Prof. B.S. Butola, Prof. S. Sinha, Dr. D.N. Das, and Dr. Bhaswati Das for their encouragement, inspiration, and guidance during my research, which has been very helpful to me. I also express my sincere thanks to all other faculty members for imparting knowledge to me during the course work. Along with them, I am also thankful to all other non-teaching staff of our centre for their great assistance and help.

I would like to express my sincere gratitude to Mr. Verghese, Mr. M. Tamil Selvan of CSRD Computer Laboratory, Mr. Shish Kaur of SSS-I Computer Laboratory and my senior cartographer Rakesh Arya for their cooperation and useful suggestions while assisting me in cartographic and other computer works.

I also express my thanks and gratitude to all the rickshaw pullers and rickshaw contractors who have given me their valuable time for the completion of my field work. Without their precious time this study would not have been accomplished. My thanks are also to the staff members of the libraries: Jawaharlal Nehru University Central University, Institute for Democracy and Sustainability and Population Foundation of India, Delhi.

I am indebted to the University Grants Commission – National Eligibility Test (UGC-NET) to provide me the fellowship (JRF and SRF) for my doctoral studies, which helped me to carry on with the logistics of my PhD research.

I am also grateful to the union members of the Rickshaw Pullers Association in Delhi. They have provided me valuable suggestions for improving the condition of rickshaw pullers. Non-Governmental Organisations have also provided me valuable suggestions for my work. Special mention should be made of Dr. M.P. Kishwer (Editor, Manushi Journal), and Dr. P. K. Sarmah, Executive Director of the organisation Centre for Rural Development. I also very much grateful to the Right to Information Act 2005, to give me the right to collect information, whatever was available in the government departments. Without this, act it would have been impossible to collect secondary data on the rickshaw pullers in Delhi. I also would like to acknowledge the Municipal Corporation of the Delhi and various other government agencies.

During the course of my research, I have been assisted by several friends. My special thanks are due to Ms. Chandramallika Biswas, Harihar Sahoo, Saroj Kumar Singh, Sunil Kumar Yadav, Ajit Ranjan, Sudeep Sarkar, Preeti Lata, Anita, Sanjay, Narendra Kumar Das, Akmal Khan, Hemant, Pravin Kumar Kushwa, Durgesh Kumar Verma, and Ramesh for their encouragement and moral support. My sincere thanks also go to all my batch mates for making the past few years a pleasant experience. My special thanks go to Miss Mala Mukherjee who has helped me in editing the thesis.

I am forever grateful and indebted to my father, mother and brother, and express my deep heartfelt gratitude to them for their constant inspiration and support throughout my academic life. All my accomplishments have only been possible because of their valuable contributions. Without their unfailing patience, wishes, prayers, support and everlasting encouragement this endeavour would not have acquired the present shape. My deepest appreciation goes to my father Late Sh. KaleRam, for his constant encouragement, cooperation and support throughout my studies. I also express my special thanks to my Bhaiya-Babhi for their moral support during crucial time of my research work. I extend my special thanks to all my relatives for their encouragement and support given to me from time to time.
