

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Though submission of thesis, its credit and merit generally goes to the scholar, research is basically and relatively a collective work. It involves an enormous interaction with a number of people coming from different walks of life besides seeking their advice, suggestions and cooperation. It is my preliminary duty to thank all those who have extended their fullest cooperation in enabling me to complete my Ph.D. programme successfully, from all respects.

At the very outset, I would like to express my intense sense of gratitude to my Supervisor Prof. C. Narasimha Rao, Professor and Head, Centre for Scientific Socialism, Acharya Nagarjuna University, for his fullest cooperation, in giving me valuable suggestions, inspiring guidance and enormous encouragement so as to enable me complete my research programmes successfully.

I also express my thanks to Prof. K. Chakradhar Rao, Retired Professor of Economics, Osmania University, Dr. V. Krishna Rao retired Reader of Political science and Sri A.M.P. Acharyulu, retired lecturer, Dr. V. Divya thejo murthy, Asst.Prof., Dept. of R.D, A.N.U., for their immense help and suggestions. I also whole heartedly thank the Management, Principal and all my colleagues of S.V. Degree College, Suryapet.

I extend my special thanks to the librarians of Acharya Nagarjuna University, Tribal Culture Research and Training Institute (TCR & TI), Hyderabad, National Institute of Rural Development (NIRD), Rajendra Nagar, A.P., Directorate of Economic & Statistics, Govt. of A.P., Hyderabad, Centre for Economic and Social Studies, (CESS), Hyderabad, Univ. Library of Osmania University, Hyderabad, Indian Institute of Advanced Study, Rastrapathi Nivas, Shimla, India for providing me all facilities, regarding lofty and laudable information.

As my close friend's and Critic's Dr. Allam Rajaiah and Dr. Vasantha Rao Deshpande, helped me beyond words in gathering very valuable source-material. My thanks are due to all the social organisations and activists connected with peasant movements and organisations, for their kind help and co-operation. And special thanks to those who especially evinced keen interest during my stay at Adilabad, Utnoor, Mancheriyala, Bellampally and also with a broad-heart made arrangements for my frequent visits to the tribal areas.

I express thanks to the members of the staff of Center for Scientific Socialism and Department of Rural Development, Acharya Nagarjuna University, who have helped me a lot, all along my research work.

I express my deep sense of gratitude to all my colleagues, friends and fellow researchers who helped in the preparation of this thesis. I am deeply indebted to number of individuals, officials and Institutions without whose help and encouragement this study would not have been possible.

Last but not the least, I would like to record my heartiest thanks to my beloved wife, Ln. Dongari Vara Laxmi whose unagitating encouragement and moral support inspired me in completing my research work successfully and I am equally indebted to my beloved children Nuthana (MCA, O.U.), Nikhil Dongari (B.Tech., JNTU), Nishanth Dongari (B.Tech., IIT, Bombay), who have worked hard to provide me assistance whenever necessary, through their computer net-work.
