ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Writing this thesis has been fascinating and extremely rewarding. Pursuing a Ph.D. degree is a both painful and enjoyable experience. It’s just like climbing a high peak, step by step, accompanied with bitterness, hardships, frustration, encouragement and trust. The work presented in this thesis would not have been possible without the support and encouragement of numerous people including my well-wishers, my friends, and various institutions and organisations. At the end of my thesis, it is a pleasant task to express my sincere gratitude to all those who contributed in many ways to the success of this study and made it an unforgettable experience for me.

It is an exciting and immemorable moment for me to express my sincere gratitude to my research supervisor and the chief architect of this work Dr. Samata B. Deshmane, Professor, Department of Sociology, Jnana Bharathi Campus, Bangalore University, Bangalore. I am ever grateful for her inspiring and valuable guidance. And also for her patience, motivation, enthusiasm and immense knowledge. Her guidance helped me in all the time of research and writing of this thesis.

I express my heart-felt gratitude to Dr. B.C. Mylarappa, Professor and Chairman, Department of Sociology, Bangalore University, Bangalore, for his co-operation, encouragement and advices.

I owe my heartiest gratitude to Dr. Y. Narayana Chetty, Professor, Department of Sociology, Bangalore University, Bangalore, for his thought provoking suggestions throughout my work.

I am extremely thankful to Dr. C. Somashekher, Professor, Department of Sociology, Bangalore University, Bangalore, for his kind co-operation, suggestions and good wishes.
I also like to thank Dr. R. Rajesh, Associate Professor, Department of Sociology, Bangalore University, Bangalore for his useful comments and suggestions. I also thank Dr. Sudha Khokate, faculty member, Department of Sociology, Bangalore University, Bangalore for her suggestions and good wishes.

I am also grateful to Dr. Jogan Shankar, Professor, Department of Sociology, Mangalore University for his valuable suggestions and guidance during the course of my research work.

I am also thankful to Dr. Siddagangamma and Dr. Sharada for their kind support.

I express my grateful thanks to Prof. V. Chandrashekar, Principal, Govt. First Grade College, Varthur, Bangalore for his encouragement and support in my research work. My sincere thanks to retired Prof. N. Narahari, Dr. Y. Gangadhara Reddy and all the staff members of Govt. First Grade College, Varthur, Bangalore.

I would also like to extend my huge warm thanks to Kanakalakshmi. S. Associate Professor and HOD, Department of Sociology, Maharani’s Arts, Commerce and Management College for Women, Bangalore who encouraged me with her love and affection, moral support and suggestions throughout my research work.

I am indebted to the support I received from my research colleagues who helped me with their valuable suggestions throughout my research work Dr. N.Parameshwara, Dr. Manjula K.R., Dr.Shivakumar C, Dr. Rashmi.B, Dr. Vinodh Kumar, Dr. Chandrashekar, Dr.Mohan Das, Dr.Someshekar, Basavaraju.M, Gayathri.M, Lakshmi.N, Anil Kumar.G.N
I render my special thanks to the support of Nirmala C. Yelligar, D.
Yeshoda, Ammu Joseph, Radhika, Savitha, Srinivas Murthy, Srinivas, Ajay,

I take this opportunity to place on record the constant and unflinching support I received from advisers, friends, well-wishers Narayana Sharma, H. Prakash, Muttu, Manjunath, Srikanth, Ramya, Rekha, Dr.Gayathri.M, Arani. M.

Writing this thesis would not have been complete without the unstinted support from my family members. My father Mr.Venkataramanaiah, mother Mrs. H. Sarojamma, my brothers Hemanth, Anil, Sunil, Abhishek and my sister Ashwini Kumari who have forever been encouraging me to put my best even in times of crises. Mrs.
Siddamma, mother-in-law, whose understanding and support made it possible for me to dedicate time and effort to complete thesis.

I must thank my husband, Mr. H. Shankarappa who always stood behind me and consistently cheered me on, whenever I seemed to be failing.
Working on this dissertation has been as much his effort and dream as mine.
My daughter Varsha. S. who has been impatient to see my thesis completed, yet so understanding, while I was trying a balance between my various roles.

I express my sincere gratitude to all the women journalists who provided me the information, who supported me very much in drafting the data and its formation in the field work.
