ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

First and foremost I would like to acknowledge the Benevolence of the Almighty for everything He has given to me. It is a great privilege for me to express my sincere gratitude and indebtedness to my learned mentor and supervisor Prof. Abu Sufiyan Zilli. This study could not have seen the light of the day without his invaluable supervision. I am obliged to him not only for the motivation, indispensable support, guidance, untiring and constant efforts and keen observations and suggestions given to me in order to complete this thesis. His warm attitude, enlightening tasks and ever willing help always sustained me in my efforts and inspired me to pursue my work consistently.

I extend my thanks and deep sense of gratitude to Prof. Nazirul Hasnain, D/o Psychology J.M.I., New Delhi for their advice and encouragement.

I am also thankful to all the Teachers of different schools from both government and private schools for their prompt and kind cooperation in giving timely responses despite of their busy schedule.

I would like to thanks to my parents contribution towards my personality building. Every nook and corner of my heart is grateful beyond the expression of words to my father Mr. Zahoorullah and Mother Mrs. Rabiya Zahoor for showing immense love, affection and concern without which I would have been non-existent. I can just say that my achievement is theirs.
I want to thanks my brothers Faiz and Amir for their encouragement and my sisters Zeba and Azra for their support, love and encouragement. I am grateful to my Uncle and Aunts for providing me constant support and encouragement and I shall always thankful to my Grandparents for remembering me in their dua, their affection and love.

I shall always remain indebted to my friends Shabana Azmi, Shahana apa, Seddigheh and Preeti for being my pillars of strength, who have contributed to the development and completion of this thesis through their gift of time, support, advice and belief. They have been my source of inspiration and without their solicitous care and help I would not have been able to finish my work.

There are some other friends and colleagues that I must mention who never failed their duty to encourage me. I have no words to thanks Amjad, Charli, Farha, Shabana, Mahenaz, Ummat, Sadaf and Shaheen. Their invaluable suggestions and company has indeed made my work one of the most memorable phases of my life.

I would also like to thanks Teaching and Non-teaching staff members of the department of Psychology, A.M.U. Aligarh, for their constant help and support.
