Acknowledgment

Completing a Ph.D is truly a marathon event, my utmost thanks to God who gave me the patience, the direction and determination to complete my thesis and I would not have been able to complete this journey without the aid and support of countless people. Period where I learnt lot of lessons not only regarding academics but also about important facts of life, which I believe, will help me in future to live a simple and happy life. It was a pleasure for me to work with all the wonderful people in my lab and around. Place where I spent most amazing and sweet memories of my life. Turning back at this time was of great difficulty as I wish; I can stay with this period forever, but to follow a bitter fact of life we have to move on as life doesn't wait for anything.

So, I take this opportunity and begin with by conveying a heartfelt gratitude to my respected supervisor Professor Imrana Naseem. Who has given me a Privilege by giving me an opportunity to work under her kind guidance. Her ideas and tremendous support had a major influence on this thesis.
