ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The evaluation of Agricultural Labour, their living conditions, Government Aid, Market Sector in Emerging Global scenario has been the dominant feature of my personal life for more than a decade. This intense and greatly demanding activity/task has provided me with lots of challenges and opportunities.

As a researcher and teacher in Agricultural Labour Law, Department of Post-Graduate Studies in Law, I have been actively involved for many years, in the assessment and verification of a great number of topics (agro-industry, infrastructure, manufacturing and commerce, natural resources property and tourism, etc.).

This gained expertise allowed me to cover thoroughly the pertinent aspects that form part of the model discussed in my Doctoral Thesis. The Roles achieved in working for this topic turned out to encompass more than just being senior contributors. They made a significant grant to the conceptualization and structure of this Doctoral Dissertation and provided a backbone of encouragement and support. My deepest gratitude goes to them.

First of all, I am greatly indebted to my Guide Dr. Sadhana Pande, Professor and Head of the Department of Post-Graduate Studies in Law, for her intellectual guidance, supervision and encouragement. Her help was invaluable throughout the process, and without her unflagging attention and enthusiasm it would never have grown from lofty concept to concrete reality.

I have been awarded Golden Jubilee University Junior Research Fellowship for which I am greatly indebted to the University authorities. I would also acknowledge the valuable contributions made available by library staff as well by non-teaching staff.

Thanks and appreciation to my wife, for her patience, strength and sense of humor and for countless hours of technical help. I am also grateful to my parents for moral support in this endeavour. Thanks also too many friends and associates who offered their valuable time and insights.
