During the accomplishment of this study I have received generous help from various quarters at various stages which I want to acknowledge from the core of my heart. First of all, I wish to express my sincere gratitude to my Guru Professor Mohammad Sadiq whose keen interest in the subject offering blunt criticisms and constructive suggestions at every stage of its preparation helped me immensely in giving a meaningful shape to my work. Indeed, I feel very privileged to have worked under his supervision. I am also thankful to other faculty members of the Centre.

I acknowledge with gratitude Prof. Irfan Habib, ICHR, Prof. M.A. Saleem Khan, AMU, Prof. S. Bhattacharya, Shanti Niketan for their guidance and valuable suggestions.

I feel privileged to acknowledge my special debt of gratitude to His Highness Dr. Shaikh Sultan Muhammad Al-Qasimi, Ruler of Sharjah, who was kind enough to help me in many ways in the accomplishment of this study. He was also very generous to spare his invaluable time to enlighten me, with his clear grasp of the history of the region, by putting various dynamics of the study in proper perspective. Dr. Abdullah Abu Ezzah, superintendent of National Archives of Abu Dhabi and Dr. Morsy Mohammad Abdullah, Director of Research and Documentation Centre of Abu Dhabi who have offered their concrete and objective comments on many issues which gave insight to the study for which I am indebted to them.

I will be failing in my duty if I do not record my sincere gratitude to Professors, Derek Hopwood, Robin Bidwell, Timothy C. Niblock, Michel Burrel, Charles Tripp, William Hale, at the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge, Durham, London, respectively, for enlightening me with their incisive and constructive comments. I indeed feel that without the benefit from their reservoir of knowledge this study would have lacked in depth and clarity.

I am also very thankful to Prof. Ekmeleddin Ihsanoglu, of Research Centre for Islamic History, Art and Culture; Dr. Azmi Ozcak, Dr. Tufan Buzpinar, Centre for Islamic Studies, Istanbul for their fruitful discussion and comments.

I am very thankful to the School of International Studies, Jawaharlal Nehru University, for field trip grant to England and University Grants Commission and Indian Council of Historical Research for granting fellowship for the study. I wish to thank the staff of various libraries and institutions for their cooperation. I am also thankful to Shri T.M. Varghese for the computer assistance.

Though it is not possible to acknowledge all friends individually, however, it is my pleasure to record sincere gratitude to all of them for their generous help and cooperation. My sincere thanks also goes to Mr. Nizamuddin, Mr. Abdul Hakeem, Mr. Abdur Rauf, Mr. Riyaz Ahmad, Mr. Shafeel Ahmad, Mr. Zulqarnain who have extended their help and encouragement at every stage of this study.

I take this opportunity to express my sincere gratitude to my uncles Mr. Ahmad K. Ali and Mr. Khairullah K. Ali and all members of family in Bombay and Sultanate of Oman not only for their affection and hospitality during my visit but also for their ever generous and unfailing financial support even at the cost of sacrificing their own comfort. My thanks are also due to all my younger brothers whose solace and refreshment was of great relief. I feel proud to acknowledge my very special debt of gratitude to my uncle Mr. Mohd Ibrahim and aunty and my mother for their unfailing support, sacrifice and affection. They are my source of inspiration as well as strength. In fact I owe much more than that I can ever pay back to them.

Last but not the least I do not know how to thank my wife Akhari and daughter Ruqaiyya for their extreme patience and silent sacrifice. Without their cooperation this work would not have come to fruitful end.

If, in spite of all assistance and support, some deficiencies still remain in the work, the responsibility is mine and not of those who helped and supported me.
