ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I owe a great intellectual debt to Professor Rahmatullah Khan under whose supervision this thesis was written, for initiating me into the study of the legal problems of environmental protection. He first supervised my M.Phil dissertation on "A Legal Framework of Eco-management: The Indian Model", and followed it up with the present study. His penchant for clarity of thought and expression made me revise my draft several times, a chore which I found demanding but nevertheless worthwhile. I would therefore like to express my profound gratitude to Professor Rahmatullah Khan for guiding and helping me through all these years.

Professor R.P. Anand has always taken a great personal interest in the research activities of the students in his Department. In spite of his pressing engagements he found time to discuss with and encourage his students. I would like to acknowledge the helpful assistance he gave me throughout my stay in Jawaharlal Nehru University. Dr. V.S. Mani, Associate Professor in the Department, took a personal interest in my academic advancement and helped me in whatever way he could at every stage. I have greatly benefited from our long discussions together.
I joined the Indian Society of International Law (ISIL) in May 1980. During my stay there every possible help was extended to me by Shri K. Narayana Rao, Director of the ISIL. My former colleague Mr. Narinder Singh (currently with the Legal and Treaties Division of the Ministry of External Affairs) provided the much needed companionship. To these two I owe a great deal. I also thank my other colleagues and staff at the ISIL including Mrs. C.L. Arand, Mr. S. Balupuri, Mr. P.K. Choudhary, Mr. K.J.S.R. Kapoor, Miss Malati Menon, Mr. Permanand, Mr. M.K. Rao, Mr. Ramesh, Mrs. Madhuri Saxena, Late Mr. S.K. Saxena, Mr. M.D. Sharmas, Mr. Diwan Singh, and Mr. Mohan Singh who made 7-8, Scindia House a stimulating place of work.

My grateful thanks are due to Judge Nagendra Singh, president of the International Court of Justice and Justice R.S. Pathak of the Supreme Court of India, who have taken personal interest in my research and helped me overcome whatever difficulties I might have had.

Dr. S.P. Jagota, Member, International Law Commission; Dr. R.K. Dixit, Director, International Baurite Association, Dr. P.S. Rao, Legal Adviser, Permanent Mission of India to the United Nations at New York, have all helped me in innumerable ways. I express my deep and sincere gratitude to them. Dr. S. Rama Rao of the Legal and Treaties Division of the Ministry of External Affairs, besides being a friend, proved to be a great source of inspiration. To him I owe a special debt of gratitude.

Professor S.K. Agrawala, Professor B.S. Murty, Professor T.S. Rama Rao, Professor Surya P. Sharma have all given me invaluable help and inspiration. Particular mention may also be made of the help rendered by Dr. Dominique Abbevierre, Professor R.O. Quentin Baxter, Professor Dr. Rudolf Bernhardt, Dr. Wolfgang Burhenne, Judge Jens Evensen, Dr. Franciose Burhenne-Guileman, Dr. William Kennedy, Professor Alexandre Charles Kiss, Dr. Rudiger Lummert, Professor Stephen C. McCaffrey, Dr. Armin Rosenznan, Professor Dr. Helmut Steinberger, Professor Dr. Ingo von Munch, and Professor Edith Brown Weiss.

Apart from these people, several officials in the Ministries of Environment and Forests, Ocean Development, Science and Technology, External Affairs, Law, Justice and Company Affairs have freely given their valuable time and helped me locate relevant materials. My special thanks here extend to Dr. S.Z. Gasim, Dr. T.N. Khoshoo, Mr. Samar Singh, Mr. Brij Kishore, and Dr. K. Parabrahmmam.

Special thanks are also due to M. Moazzam Ali, B.S. Chimni, T.L. Gill, C. Jayaraj, Kochukunj Joy, Babu Mathew, B.V.P. Rao, Sangita Satyanarayana, Subrata Sengupta, Pradeep Singh, Renuka Singh, and R. Sudarshan, all of who bore with me during my J.N.U. days, and to Mr. A.G.C. Rajan, who spared no efforts in typing this Thesis.

Words cannot adequately express my gratitude for my parents, Shri Kilaparti Ramdas and Smt. Kanakaratnam; my uncle Shri Bendaru Pyda Raju; and my brother, Shri J.A.S. Giri - all of who in their own and often conflicting ways helped me complete this study. For being a constant source of inspiration I thank Alka and Kaushik Basu.

Apart from Professor Rahmatullah Khan, if I should name just one person responsible for seeing this thesis through - I would unhesitatingly say it was Anjali. She went through the entire manuscript, made several useful comments, proof read the drafts and prepared the bibliography. But for her painstaking effort this study would never have seen the light of the day.
