ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

It is my bounden duty to express my gratitude and reverence to my research guide Dr. S. Raja Chandrasekar, Head, Department of Economics (Retd.), Centre for Research in Economics, Aditanar College of Arts and Science, Tiruchendur, for suggesting this research topic and for enabling me to be a student of Public Economics. He had been a source of motivation and inspiration and stood with me during the time of pursuing this laborious process of my doctoral research. I do not find words to express my gratitude to him for extending all the possible help in completing this research work.

I sincerely thank Padmashri Dr. B. Sivanthi Adityan, Chairman, Aditanar Educational Institutions, for providing me an opportunity to pursue the Ph.D. programme under the Faculty Development Programme of UGC (IX Plan).

I am thankful to Thiru. I. Uthirapandian, B.A., B.L., Secretary, former Principal, Dr. P. Selvaraj, M.B.A., Ph.D., and present Principal, Dr. V. Gopalakrishnan, M.Com., B.Ed., Ph.D., Aditanar College of Arts and Science, Tiruchendur, for their encouragement.

I sincerely thank Prof. M. Govinda Rao, National Institute of Public Finance and Policy, New Delhi for providing me an opportunity to undergo a four week Refresher Training Programme at their esteemed institution, which served as a turning point in my research programme.

I thank Prof. K. Nageswara Rao, Krishna Devaraya University, Ananthapur, for having helped me by means of providing certain vital informations related to this research programme.

My heartfelt thanks are also to Prof. T. Divakara Rao, Hyderabad, for the necessary guidance and discussions at the time of problems and for sharing certain inputs which helped me a lot in this research programme.

I am extremely thankful to Mr. Siva Chidambaram, Senior Librarian, National Institute of Public Finance and Policy, New Delhi, in getting the unit level data from NSSO. I also thank Mr. R. Dharmaperumal, System Analyst, Madras Institute of Development Studies, Chennai, and Mr. V. Michael Venish, Research Scholar, Madras Institute of Development Studies, Chennai, for their timely help in extracting the NSSO unit level data, without which this doctoral work would not have been successfully materialized.

I am much thankful to Mr. Krishanu Karmakar, Ph.D. student, Andrew Young School of Policy Studies, Georgia State University, Atlanta, Georgia, USA, for helping me in devising the formula for the calculation of tax burden using NSSO unit level data.

My sincere thanks are also to Dr. E. Manoharan, M.A., Ph.D., a colleague of mine, for having discussions with me in finalising the methodological part.

I am thankful to my department colleagues for having encouraged me at various levels during the course of this work.

I am grateful to Dr. T. Balu, M.Sc., M.Phil., Ph.D., Associate Professor in Physics, Aditanar College of Arts and Science, Tiruchendur for having shouldered the responsibility of looking after the NCC unit - which I have been commanding as caretaker during the pursuance of my Ph.D. research work under Faculty Development Programme.

I heartily thank my beloved student Ms. V. Balaruby, Assistant Professor in Economics, TDMNS College, T. Kallikulam for helping me a lot at various stages of this research work.

I am highly indebted to my wife R. Krishnakumari, M.Sc., M.Ed., M.Phil., and my sons P. Gokul Pradeep, B.E., and P. Gokul Prasadh for their willing sacrifice and support during the pursuance of this research work.
I am very much thankful to Mr. P. Ulaguvel, M/s. Saraswathi Computers, Tiruchendur, for the neat and timely execution of the typographical part of this thesis.

My heartfelt thanks are also to my friends, relatives and well wishers who have blessed me for the early and successful completion of this research work.
