Acknowledgement

This thesis is made possible through the help and support from everyone, including: parents, teachers, family, friends, and in essence, all sentient beings.

Foremost, I would like to express my sincere gratitude to my supervisor Dr. (Mrs.) Rashmi Chowdhry, Associate Professor, Department of Psychology, University of Rajasthan, Jaipur, for the continuous support of my Ph.D study and research, her patience, motivation, enthusiasm, and immense knowledge. Her guidance helped me in all the time of research and writing of this thesis. I could not have imagined having a better advisor and mentor for my Ph.D study.

A special thanks to my family. Words cannot express how grateful I am to my mother and father for all of the sacrifices that you’ve made on my behalf. Your prayer for me was what sustained me thus far. They were not only the constant source of inspiration to me but were the one who shaped me academically, morally and mentally to finish the work.

I would also like to thank all of my brothers, sister and friends who supported me in writing, and incanted me to strive towards my goal.

I would like express appreciation to my beloved husband who spent sleepless nights with and was always my support in the moments when there was no one to answer my queries.
I would like to pay sincerest gratitude and thanks to Prof. AVS Madnawat, Dept. of Psychology, University of Rajasthan, Jaipur, for his cooperation and support.

I owe my thanks to all teachers and office staff for their necessary help in work.

I could not have been possible to complete this study without the contribution of students, teachers, & principles of all the schools.

I am highly obliged to all the writers and authors whose books and research studies have been a torch bearer throughout my research work.

Above all I thank God, the almighty for providing me this opportunity and granting me the capability to proceed successfully.
