ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I express my most sincere and heartfelt thanks to my supervisor Prof. Abdul Nafey whose directions and inspiration have guided me to complete this thesis. I also thank Prof. J.L. Ferreira Jr., Prof. R. Narayanan, Prof. Christopher S. Raj, Prof. Chintamani Mahapatra, Prof. R.L. Chawla, Prof. K.P. Vijayalakshmi, Prof. Salim Kidwai, Prof. S. N. Malakar and Dr. Priti Singh for their invaluable guidance throughout my research work.

Hon’ble Vice Chancellor Shri V. N. Rai, Prof. Suraj Palswal, Prof. N. Hasnain, Prof. M.C. Pandey, Prof. V. Upadhyay, Dr. Umesh K. Singh, Dr. R. Asthana, Dr. Manoj Rai, Dr. P C Jha, Dr. Tushar Kant, Ravindranathan, Kadar Nawaz, Pryush P. Singh, D. katheriya, and A. Ghosh deserve special thank for their support.

I wish to acknowledge Embassy of Cuba in New Delhi for providing me materials for this monograph. I am grateful to His Excellency the Ambassador for sparing time to discuss political and economic developments in Cuba.

My parents have always given me the opportunity and freedom to study the subject of my choice. I owe a deep sense of gratitude to them for their unstinted support.

My friends A. Jayant, Sapan Rai, Capt. Gurjinder Singh and Abhishek Mathur, Rohit Prasad, Nitin P. Suryavanshi, Amjad Khan, Abhisheka, Tamanna Khan, and Lalit have given me constant emotional support and encouraged me to think independently. My friends at JNU, Arun Kumar Sinha, Arjun Prasad, Akash Chandra Sahoo, Quaiser Jamal, Manzar Hussain, Avanindra, Pravin, and Anand deserve a special mention for their valuable supports throughout my stay at JNU. Thanks to them!

Abhishek and Rohit deserve a mention for their invaluable help during proof reading. Thanks to all my well wishers.

I owe my gratitude to Sensei and all the teachers who taught me.

JNU
23 July, 2010

Ravi Kumar