ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

First of all, I am grateful to the Almighty for all the blessings He has showered on me. During my research period, as always in the rest of my life, I have been blessed by Almighty with some amazing people who have spun a web of support around me. Words can never be enough in expressing how grateful I am to those incredible people in my life who made this thesis possible. I would attempt to thank them for making my time during my research, a period I will treasure.

First and foremost, I would like to express my heartfelt gratitude to my supervisor, Dr. G.K Kochar, Ex-Chairperson, Dept. of Home Science, Kurukshetra University Kurukshetra and currently Head of the Dept. of Nutrition Biology, Central University of Haryana, Mahendergarh, for her enthusiastic encouragement throughout my research work. Her positive attitude, wide knowledge and logical way of thinking often enlightened my mind and opened new avenues when I got struck in my work. I lack in words to thank for her precious time and dedication. I am really fortunate to have her as my supervisor and it is an honor for me to be one of her Ph.D. students.

I can never forget the encouragement and support of the Chairperson Dr. Tarvinderjit Kaur, Professor, Dr. Vinti Davar and Assistant Professor Dr. Devender Kumar, Dept. of Home Science, who always helped me to jump over hurdles, which came during academic period. I am really thankful to all for their exceedingly pleasant cooperation and affectionate attitude. I also thank all the non-teaching staff of Dept. of Home Science for their invaluable advice and cooperation as and when entailed. All teaching and non-teaching staff always stood beside me in all types of situations during my research work.

I am greatful to Dr. Jagmal Singh, paediatrician, SMO L.N.J.P Hospital Kurukshetra, for the guidance given for adolescent girls that were used for the experimental trials. Special thanks are extended to Dr. Neeraj Mittal, Pathologist, for analyzing blood samples with meticulous accuracy. I am also indebted to the principals and staff of the various schools of district Kurukshetra, for furnishing me with all the requisite documents and also permitting me to go ahead with this project smoothly.

I am greatly indebted to all the respondents who took part in my research work and spared their precious time for answering the questions and their judgement attitude during survey. I acknowledge their invaluable ideas and comments during survey. I also acknowledge their invaluable ideas and comments during survey. Without their help, this thesis would not have seen as it is.

Domestic affections and love matter a lot in one’s life. I want to pay my emotions and respect to my family members: my grandfather, S. Gian Singh; father, S. Amarjit Singh; father-in-law, Prof. S. S. Rattan; mother-in-law, Mrs. Neena. I consider myself to be fortunate in having their incredible love, support and prayers for me. It was their undying inspiration and unending blessings that worked as the base of this long venture. I deeply miss my mother Satwinder Kaur, who is not with me to share this joy but has inculcated many admirable qualities in me and provided me a good foundation to meet challenges of life.

I am highly grateful to my uncle, S. Kanwarjit Singh for all the sacrifices he made to help me in completing my research work. I will forever remain grateful to him for advising me at each and every step of my life. I find it difficult to verbalize my deepest sense of appreciation to my sisters Gurdeep Kaur, Parminder Kaur and Ankurdeep Kaur. The words felt short to express how great it was to have such wonderful sisters. Their prayers for me was what sustained me thus so far. I am also immensely touched by the affections bestowed upon me by my aunts Mrs.Dimple and Ms.Paramjit Kaur, who had been motherly figures to me and the lovely children Jashan and Simran.

Last, but not the least, words fail in conveying my deep sense of gratitude to my husband Ravneet Rattan, for sacrificing his comforts and interests so as to ensure my long hours of concentration at my research work and for standing by me throughout this ordeal. Completion of this task would not have been possible without his assistance and the loving support. His unconditional love enabled me to go ahead with this project and co-operated with me at every step with great zeal and enthusiasm.

Finally, I take this opportunity to thank one and all who directly or indirectly helped me in completing this task. Once again, Thank you all
