ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

This study could not have been completed without the illuminating guidance, astute criticism, friendly advice and consultation of my supervisor Professor Prasanta Roy. My gratitude to him is of a kind which can hardly be expressed adequately in the form of a simple acknowledgement.

In the process of collecting the data, preparing the interview-schedule, establishing rapport with the working nurses who spent their valuable time in answering to my questions and getting revealing informations on the nursing occupation and on their trade union movements. I received immense help from Smt. Malabika Das Gupta, the Deputy Nursing Superintendent, Smt. Anjana Sen, the Sister Tutor and Smt. Kalpana Dasgupta, the Staff Nurse. I express my extreme indebtedness to them.

Professor Abhijit Mitra of Burdwan University made a number of critical comments and gave helpful suggestions. Professors Bala Dutta Gupta, Deb Kumar Lanerjee, Sapan Frasnisk of Calcutta University and Professors Prasulla Chakroborty, Suraj Lanerjee, Aamaranada Chatterjee of Indian Statistical Institute made a number of valuable critical comments. I am greatly indebted to all of them.
My gratitudes are due also to Mr. Anabir Chakraborty of Burdwan University and Professor Subrata Bhattacharyya of Indian Statistical Institute for helping me to obtain the book entitled ‘Learning and Working: Occupational Socialisation of Nurses’ by Kath M. Helia.

Special thanks are due to Smt. Ritaboni Roy Chowdhury and Dibyendu Bose of Indian Statistical Institute who have been most helpful in computerisation of data. Thanks are also due to Jamin Ganguly for taking care in preparing the typed matter on time.

It is a pleasure to put on record my thanks to my friends Arun Chatterjee, Dipankar Sen, Debasis Bhattacharyya, Aniruddha Chakraborty, Debasis Chatterjee for their discreet, time-to-time help.

Last but not the least, my thanks are due to my mother who has always been a source of inspiration to finish whatever I aimed at with constant cooperation.
