ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This thesis is culmination of an eventful process that started during my teaching profession at D A V College, Amritsar, encouraging me to work in the field of female informal sector workers. In this process, many people encouraged me to work, especially, Dr Sharanjeet Singh Dhillon-my guide, who was a source of guidance throughout my thesis course work, Mr Jagdish Arora-my husband, Anubhuti and Maulsri-my daughters, Mr. Rohit Arora and Mr. Sunil Arora-my brothers.

I would like to express my deepest gratitude and thanks to D A V College Managing Committee, Late Principal-Dr. V K Sharma, Principal and Director Colleges-Dr. Satish Sharma and Principal-Dr. K N Kaul, who gave me their whole hearted support during my research work. I am also very thankful to Prof. Shalu Batra, Prof. Preeti Kamra and Prof. Vikram Choudhry, for their kind support.

My regards are to Prof. Sardara Singh, Mr. Subash Rajput, Mr. Pawandeep Singh, Mr. Ishaan, Mr. Vishnu Trehan, Mr. Vikramjit Singh, Mr. Simranjeet Singh, Mrs. Sakshi Chopra and Ms. Arvina, Ms. Akshi, who have taken pain staking efforts for assisting me in the process of collecting and compiling the primary information, leading to my statistical data for the purpose of my thesis work.

My regards are due to my members of the family, Principal-Dr. Rajesh Kumar and my colleagues in the college, who helped me emotionally at each step of work.

Above all, thank you God.

Mrs. Ritu Arora