I bow my soul, head and body to the supreme power, Divinity for its continuous grace and divine blessings. At every juncture, I could sense His presence and His help.

The sustained period of writing leading up to finishing this thesis has given me the opportunity to reflect on all the people who helped me, influenced me, taught me, and supported me in diverse ways throughout this research endeavour.

First and foremost I would like to acknowledge the tireless support and help of my supervisor Dr. Dharm Singh who has always provided extremely valuable suggestions and inspiration during the entire span of research. He set out perfect example for his encouragement and guidance on my study, research, career, and life. It is truly a pleasure to be embraced by his wisdom and friendliness and a privilege to work in the free and easy atmosphere that he creates for the learning group. The best I can wish for myself is just to have the opportunity to collaborate with him in the future also.

I also thank my thesis co-supervisor Dr. J.S. Shah to keep open-mind in front of new ideas. Prof. Shah taught to me how to lead a research project and he always let me explore new ideas. I am grateful for the many opportunities and guidance he has given with his individual warmth.

I would like to extend my deepest gratitude and thank to Dean (Research) Dr. S.C. Dwivedi for giving me the opportunity to study at Suresh Gyan Vihar University (SGVU) Jaipur. I am grateful for the many opportunities and guidance he has generously afforded on me while at Jaipur. In particular, my research greatly benefited from the atmosphere he and his team created for me to pursue this entire span of research.

Special gratitude goes to the Office of Commissioner, Commissionerate of Technical Education and Office bearers who provided necessary permission to pursue my PhD at SGVU Jaipur.
