Contents

Chapters                                      Page No.

1. Introduction                          01-49

Review of Relevant Literature Gender and Language Research: Global Context Gender and Language Ideologies, Stereotypes and Norms Age and Gender-differentiated Language Social Class and Gender differences in Language Gender differences in Conversational Practice Conversational Dominance in Mixed Talk Same-sex Talk
Women’s Talk in the Public Sphere Sexist/Gendered Language Use Gender and Language Research: Indian Context

Objectives of the Study Methodological Parameters

2. Relevant Theoretical Frameworks         50-96

Theories on Language and Society

a) Emile Durkheim
b) Sapir-Whorf
c) Antonio Gramsci
d) Structuralism: Ferdinand de Saussure, Claude Levi Strauss
e) Ludwig Wittgenstein
f) Louis Althusser
g) Social Constructionism: Berger and Luckman
h) Theories of Everyday Life: Alfred Schutz, Harold Garfinkel And Erving Goffman
i) Frankfurt School Critical Theory: Jurgen Habermas
j) Poststructuralism: Jacques Derrida, Michel Foucault and Pierre Bourdieu

Theories Relating Gender, Language and Social Class

a) Basil Bernstein
b) William Labov
c) Peter Trudgill
d) Deficit Approach- Robin Lakoff
e) Dominance Approach- Fishman, Spender, Zimmerman and West etc.
f) Difference Approach- Deborah Tannen
g) Dynamic/Discourse Approach- Deborah Cameron, Judith Butler
h) Feminist theories on language and gender French Feminism
   Intersectional Theories
i) Postmodernist Perspectives
j) Queer Theory

3. Differences in Language Use Patterns of Women and Men 97-145
   In Private and Public Spheres
   a) Differences in Women’s and Men’s Language Use and Speech Pattern
   b) Issues discussed among Women and Men in Same-Sex groups in Private and Public Spheres
      i. Issues discussed by and among Males in Private Spheres
      ii. Issues discussed by and among Males in Public Spheres
      iii. Issues discussed by and among Females in Private Spheres iv. Issues discussed by and among Males in Public Spheres
   c) Language Use Patterns within Mixed-Sex Groups
   d) Conclusion

4. Gender and Language- Different Nuances 146-188
   a) Gender as a Social Construct and Language as Facilitator for Creating Gender Identity
   b) Men’s Language and Women’s Language
   c) Women and Men treated as ‘Others’
   d) Sexist/Gendered Language
   e) Conclusion

5. Gender, Language and Social Class 189-225
   a) Social Class- Definition and Determinants
   b) Income and Language Use Patterns
   c) Education and Language Use d) Occupation and Language Use
   e) Conclusion

   Quantitative Data Analysis 226-231

6. Conclusion 232-240
   Summary of Findings
   Future Research Potentialities

   End Notes (Website References) 241-243

   Bibliography 244-254

   Appendix A- Interview Schedule 255-272