ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

No words can express my deep sense of gratitude to Prof. Raghubir Chakravorty, Professor & Head of Department, Political Science, Hooghly Mohasim College under whose constant guidance and encouragement the present work has been done.

I owe a deep debt of gratitude to Dr. B. N. Goswami, Head of the Deptt. of Political Science, Burdwan University, who has kindly spared so much of his valuable time for the improvement of the present work. Indeed the work has gained much from the discussions, I often had with him.

My sincere gratitude is also to Dr. Saktinatha Mukherjee, Reader Deptt. of Commerce of Calcutta University and Dr. Indrani Mukherjee, Professor, Maharani Kasinwari College, Calcutta, many illuminating discussions I had with them.

This study relies heavily on the accumulated knowledge that flows from diverse sources. To that, as a first step, we referred several important libraries in India including Indian Council of World Affairs Library, Saptu House, Library of J.N.U., New Delhi, National Library, Calcutta, University Central Library, Calcutta, American Library, New Delhi, Calcutta, British Council.
I wish to thank Sri Bidhu Nausen Chattarcharjee who has kindly undertaken the task of typing this thesis within a fortnight.
