ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The space here is too short to mention the names of all those people whose constant encouragement and support during the last few years have made this work possible. I am grateful to all my teachers, friends, colleagues and students whose lectures, discussions and questions helped me in shaping my thoughts.

Thanks to the Junior Research Fellowship provided by the University Grants Commission, India, that I have been able to carry out this work. I must gratefully acknowledge the help of my mentor, Professor Kavita Panjabi, for reading and re-reading meticulously the drafts of this thesis and also for lending me numerous books from her personal collection. I thank SEPHIS (South-South Exchange Programme for Research on the History of Development), Amsterdam; and El Colegio de México, Mexico City, for the grant that allowed me to spend a year in El Colegio de México as a visiting student-researcher. I would also like to take this opportunity to express my gratitude to Professor Swapan Majumdar (Visva-Bharati University), Dr Luz Elena Gutiérrez de Velasco (Colmex) and Dr Martha Elena Munguía (Universidad Veracruzana en Xalapa) for their useful guidance that sharpened considerably my focus. I am also indebted to Professor Fortino Corral (Universidad de Sonora) and Dr Manuel Murrieta-Saldívar (California State University) for sending me some books and articles online. Special thanks are due to Professor Subha Chakraborty Dasgupta, Dr Ishita Banerjee, Dr Elizabeth Corral, Dr Carlos Mondragon, Dr Sayantan Dasgupta, Dr Karine Tinat, Dr Robert Curley, Mercedes Arizpe Behn and Edgar Rene Pacheco Martinez for all their assistance and indulgence.
I am grateful to the staffs of the Departmental Library of Comparative Literature, Jadavpur University; the Biblioteca Daniel Cosío Villegas, El Colegio de México; libraries of the Universidad Nacional Autónoma de México, the USBI (Unidad de Servicios Bibliotecarios y de Información), Xalapa; The National Library, India; American Information and Resource Centre Library, Kolkata; and The Ramakrishna Mission Institute of Culture, Golpark; without whose help this work would not have been possible.

Finally, thanks to my family for always being there for me.
