It is my pleasant duty to express my deep sense of gratitude to Dr. M. Aram for his most valuable guidance and supervision throughout the period of my research work. Though Dr. M. Aram was very busy as Vice-Chancellor of the Gandhigram Rural Institute, Deemed University, Gandhigram; as Member of the University Grants Commission, New Delhi and President of the Shanti Ashram, Coimbatore, he was kind enough to spare time for guiding my research work out of his own interest in the field of research and rural development programmes. From the year 1964 to 1980 Dr. M. Aram was the Director of the Nagaland Peace Centre, Kohirna and he had played a key role in bringing peace and normalcy to the State of Nagaland. In the formative stage of the state he was instrumental for initiating many development programmes. Therefore, he was keenly interested to know the developmental process in Nagaland after 1980. That is how, he was kind enough to accept me as his student for my Ph.D programme.

I am grateful to Dr. B. S. Nagarajan for his kind encouragement all along since the date of my registration for Ph.D work. In fact I initiated my research work under the guidance of Dr. B. S. Nagarajan who was then the Head of the Department of Extension and Director of Adult and Continuing Education in Gandhigram Rural Institute. Later, the Vice-Chancellor having a thorough knowledge of the situations in Nagaland, was kind enough to guide me on my work.

I express my sincere thanks to all the officers of various levels in Nagaland Government who all the time received me cordially and gave me all information needed.

I do express my hearty thanks to my affectionate wife and children who could bear my separation during my stay at Nagaland for four and half years.
