ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I am fortunate enough to get help, cooperation and suggestion from a large number of persons and institutions though I can not acknowledge all of them by name. Yet I must mention a few.

I express my deep regards and gratitude to my guide Prof. Kancgoparl Bagchi, Retd. Head of the Department of Geography, Calcutta University for his constant guidance and valuable suggestions during the course of this research. I am also indebted to all the teachers of this department who helped me directly and indirectly towards the completion of this work. I should express also my gratefulness to Dr. A. Biswas, Burdwan University who extended great help in formulating the problem. I am equally indebted to Mr. S. M. Dev, Chief Engineer, Irrigation and Waterways Department, Government of West Bengal and Prof. S. C. Chakraborty, Indian Institute of Management, Calcutta, who have taught me the various aspects of water management. I have learned a lot of things related to meteorology and hydrology from Wing Commander B. L. Bose and Mr. S. B. Sen Sarma of Centre for Regional, Ecological and Science Studies in Development Alternatives, Calcutta.

Grateful acknowledgements are also due to Mr. D. P. Chattopadhyay, former Secretary, Department of Irrigation and Waterways, Govt. of West Bengal; Mr. A. K. Basu, Chief Engg. Irrigation Department, Govt. of Bihar; Mr. B. K. Baweja, Chief Hydrologist and Member, Central Ground Water Board; Mr. B. K. Bhattecharyya, Chairman, State Water Board; Mr. S. K. Bhattecharyya, Chief Hydrologist, Calcutta Port Trust; Dr. S. P. Sahi, Chief Soil Survey Officer, Rajendra Agricultural University, Bhagalpur, for the kind permission to use the data(151,184),(940,877) in their respective departments. Besides, many government personnel helped me for obtaining the data and conducting the field work. In particular, I should mention the name of Mr. M. Banerjee, Irrigation Department, Gusara; Mr. M. K. Biswas, State Water Board, Burdwan; Mr. R. P. Sinha, Irrigation Department, Patna; Mr. R. K. Sinha, PHED Deoghar; Mr. K. N. Koley, PHED, Calcutta; Mr. A. Singh, B.D.O., Gande; Mr. A. P. Prasad, B.D.O., Chakai; Mr. A. Bakshi, Dist. Agricultural Officer, Giridih; Mrs. S. Dutta, Mrs. S. Verma and Mr. T. Chakraborty of Central Ground Water Board and Mr. K. Sarkar of Geological Survey of India.

My warm thanks are due to Dr.(Mrs.) Saswati Mukherjee, Mrs. Hasi Ghosh, Mrs. Aparna Chatterjee and Mr. Uttam Mukherjee for their sincere assistance in various aspects of this research.

I am grateful to Dr.(Mrs.) Asima Chatterjee, retired Khaira Professor of the University of Calcutta, who encouraged this work by providing me with a research fellowship in the initial stage. This was followed subsequently by the award of a Junior Research Fellowship by the University Grants Commission which contributed a lot to the completion of this investigation.

Mridula Niyogi

Mridula Niyogi