ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I express my gratitude to Dr. (Mrs.) Mallika Bannerjee, Professor, Reader, Department of Psychology, University of Calcutta, for her constant surveillance and cooperation throughout the work. I am indebted to her for her support and her invaluable guidance in my research study.

I would like to thank all the children with autistic and their parents to whom I owe all my success and motivation. Without their cooperation and support I would not have been able to achieve what I have and what I want.

I convey my gratitude to Sri Sumon Mukherjee, Dr. Nilanjana Sanyal, Dr. Debabrata Biswas for his valuable suggestions.

I would like to thank all my seniors for their tremendous moral support. I am especially grateful to Sutapa di, Swastik di and Sreyashi di for their cooperation during my study period.

I am thankful to all teachers and staff of Pradip: Centre for Autism Management.

I also thank the teachers and students of Riddhi and Prerona for their unconditional support.

A special mention for my family, which continues to support me in all my ventures. My mother Mrs. Sitima Sengupta is my inspiration and she is the person who made me understand the importance of this work and thus whatever I have done is because of her. Secondly, the other person who is the pillar behind this huge task is my husband Mr. Ronnie Shambik Ghose a graduate in performing arts from Hong Kong Academy of Performing Arts. I have learnt Dance Movement Therapy form him since last five years. These are the two people with an irrational, unbreakable belief in me that bordered on craziness at times. I am thankful to my dad Mr. Sandip Sengupta, my mother-in-law Mrs. Prativa Ghose for their immense support and their tolerance during the struggling days.

Above all, I thank the Almighty for giving me strength to move forward with this endeavor.
