ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

It is a great pleasure for me to acknowledge gratefully the help received from persons and institutions in the course of this study. This research work has been carried out under the able guidance of Dr Y.B. Damle. Throughout my work, I enjoyed his incessant direction, help and encouragement, without which this work could not have been completed. I take this opportunity to record my sincere gratitude to him. If there is anything worthwhile in the pages that follow, it is due to him, and imperfections in the work, if any, are attributable to me alone.

I am very grateful to the University Grants Commission for granting me the facilities to do my research work under the Faculty Improvement Programme. Also, I sincerely record here my sense of gratitude to the authorities of the University of Poona for enabling me to do my Ph.D. under the Faculty Improvement Programme of the University Grants Commission.

A great many individuals rendered wholesome co-operation in completing this work. The Pandyan Grama Bank, Tamil Nadu, in which the field work of this study was very helpful. I am grateful to the many officials of the Bank who gave me the benefit of their time and experience. However, I hereby express my sincere gratitude to all concerned, from the Chairman of the Pandyan Grama Bank down to the junior most employee.
I am particularly grateful to the Branch Managers and other staff of the Pandyan Grama Bank which are selected for this and the 500 respondents for sharing with me their experience and making this work a success. Respondents' responses constitute the soul of this research work.

I wish to express my gratitude to the Librarians of the Library of University of Poona, the Jayakar Library, the College of Agricultural Banking Library, the Library of the Reserve Bank of India, Poona and the Reserve Bank of India Staff Training College Library, Madras, for granting me permission to use their facilities.

Finally, I specially thank Sri. Janardhanan for typing this thesis which required many hours of arduous work. He contributed much effort and did this typing work with great patience, skill, accuracy and expedition.
