PRIMARY SOURCES

SECONDARY SOURCES

---. Venturing into Female Consciousness: Two protagonists from the fiction of Bessie Head and Buchi Emecheta. Africa World. 1996.

Dasgupta, Subhoranjan. Interview with Mahasweta Dev, 'The Reaction has been so minimal among the urban educated. April 23, 2001.' www.outlookindia.com/full.asp?fodname=20010423&fname=Mahasweta&sid=1

www.bridgegewater.edu/sgallowa/203/Marupaper3.html

Horn, Annette. Contradictions and Inequalities; Bessie Head’s Tales of Tenderness and Power.

Interview with Thebo Mbeki. BBC World Service. August 9, 2006.

http://news.bbc.co.uk/2/hi/africa/5258810.html

Katrak, Ketu K. From Pauline to Dikeledi: The Philosophical and political vision of Bessie Head’s protagonists. 1985.

Kuzwayo, Ellen. Call me Woman. Johannesburg: Raven, 1985

---. The Cardinals and Bessie Head’s Allegories of self. World Literature Today. Vol. 70. No. 1, 1996.

Mitra, Amar and Sabyasachi Deb. Interview with Mahasweta Devi. Indian Literature.

---. Rural transnationalism and Bessie Head in Kate Darian Smith et al eds. Text, Theory. Space.

Oppermann, Serpil Tunç. Feminist Literary Criticism: Expanding the Canon as regards the novel. http://members.tripod.com/~warlight/OPPERMANN.html

---. Women and Culture. Research Centre for Women’s Studies: SNDT Women’s University, Bombay. 1994.

Schmidt, Elizabeth S. Now You Have Touched the women. http://www.anc.org.za/ancdocs/history/misc/schmidt123.html

267

