Acknowledgements

At the outset, I thank my faithful Lord Almighty without His abundant grace and countless blessings, this work would have not been possible.

No words can express the deep debt of gratitude I owe to my supervisor Prof. Sucheta Mahajan. Her wide experience, unrivalled knowledge of Modern Indian History, learned guidance, stimulating discussions and unstinting moral support helped me immensely in completing this work in time. Particularly, in the final stages, she has sustained me with her maternal care and thoughtful advice. I am grateful to her for always putting me at ease and for being so kind and generous as well. Let me also sincerely admit that, I draw a great deal of inspiration from my professor. I have to necessarily mention that her helping nature and humanistic approach, which she showed towards me was very helpful to complete my thesis.

I wish to thank Prof. Niladri Bhattacharya, Chairperson, Centre for Historical Studies, School of Social Sciences, for being so nice and helpful whenever I approached him to fulfil my academic formalities at the centre.

I owe my special dept to my beloved friend Dr. A. Gangatharan, Assistant Professor of History, Banaras Hindu University for his care and support during the preparation of my work. His priceless suggestions, thoughtful comments and the surfeit of information on Tamils enhanced my flair for research and made me to feel comfortable at all levels of my work.

I would like to pay my heartfelt gratitude to Prof. Robert Eric Frykenberg, Professor Emeritus, University of Wisconsin-Madison, United States of America, Prof. Geoffrey A. Oddie, Professor Emeritus, University of Sydney, Prof. Rekha Kamath Rajan, Centre for German Studies, Jawaharlal Nehru University, Dr. Heike Liebau, Zentrum Moderner Orient, Berlin, and Dr. Ericka Pabst of Francke Foundation, Halle, Germany for their valuable suggestions in my academic pursuit.

I am greatly indebted to the faculty members of the Centre for Historical Studies, Jawaharlal Nehru University, who provided me with valuable insights and suggestions to formulate my thesis.
Mere words of customary thanks will not be sufficient to express my indebtedness to my friends Dr. Paulraj, Assistant Professor, School of Environmental Sciences, Jawaharlal Nehru University, Babu, Sam Raj, S. J. S. Selvinson, D. A. Sundar, Anandhu, Vineeth, Prabhat, Raveendran and Deepa.

My thanks are due to the staff of Francke Foundation Archives, Halle, Germany, London Missionary Society Archives, London, Martin Luther University Library, Halle, Germany, Martin Luther Museum, Germany, Heidelberg University Library, Germany, National Archives of India, New Delhi, Vidyajyoti Library, New Delhi, Nehru Memorial Museum and Library, New Delhi, P. C. Joshi Archives, Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi, Tamil Nadu State Archives, Chennai, University of Madras Library, Connemara Library, Chennai, Gurukul Lutheran Heritage Archives, Chennai, Tamil Nadu Theological Seminary Archives, Madurai, Stephen Neel Study and Research Centre, Palayamkottai, Dhonavur Fellowship Library, Dhonavur, Tirunelveli and United Theological College Library and Archives, Bangalore.

Last but not least, my heartfelt thanks to my beloved parents, brothers, sisters, friends and relatives for their inspiration and encouragement.

M. Christhu Doss