gratitude to my dearest late father, who always motivated me to be independent and courageous in all my endeavors, and immense gratitude to my dear mother, who was always willing to sacrifice her time and provide financial support in her personal difficult circumstances to the very end of my stay in India.

From my stay and experience in India I have learnt to appreciate the value of the secular and democratic approach in public life and in academics.

Finally, nothing could have been accomplished without the grace and blessings of Allah the merciful, the beneficent. His constant Presence gave me encouragement and made all the difference in completing my Doctoral research and overcoming all personal and academic obstacles, right from the beginning to the very end.
