ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

It is my pleasant duty to express my deep sense of gratitude to Dr. N. Thillainayagam, Ph.D., M.C.D., D.R.S., Head, Department of Rural Industries and Management, Gandhigram Rural Institute. Gandhigram for his most valuable guidance and supervision throughout the period of my research work. It is only his help, constant encouragement and invaluable suggestions at every stage of my work that enabled me to complete my thesis successfully.

It express sincere gratitude to Dr. M.A. Sudheer, Head, Department of Applied Research for the incessant interest and moral support rendered by him. His guidance during the stage of the analysis work was a great booster to me. My heartfelt thanks also go to Dr. M.A. Jeyaraju, Dean and Professor, Faculty of English and Foreign Languages for the care and consideration he extended in going through the manuscript and offering valuable suggestions and comments for the enrichments and perfection of the content.

Dr. K. Velumani, Lecturer, Department of Mathematics suggested me an appropriate coding method and Dr. P. Sivaprakasam, Reader, Department of Cooperation guided me in framing the methodology. My thanks are due to both of them.

It is my duty to express my gratitude to our Vice-Chancellor Dr. N. Markandaii and Dr. B. R. Dwaraki, Registrar for their encouragement in the pursuit of my research programme.
I am thankful to Dr. M. Soundarapandiyan, Reader, Department of Rural Industries and Management for rendering me significant help at the time of the preparation of questionnaire and to all the other staff members of the department for their motivation and help during the course of the study.

IYlr.P.T. Joseph, Deputy Director of Coir Board provided me with full support and co-operation which enabled me to complete my data collection successfully. I express my thankfulness to him for all his help. I extend my thanks to all the managerial staff and coir workers for cooperating with me by giving reliable data with which the study has been made a valid one.

I acknowledge with thanks the care, support and encouragement extended by my beloved husband, parents and in-laws from the beginning till the end of the study.

Last but not the least, my sincere thanks go to my friends and co-research scholars for the help, suggestions and encouragement they have given me during the course of study.
