Acknowledgements

In the name of Allah, the Most compassionate, the Most merciful. To whom I owe my first and foremost thank for His showers of blessings on me.

Many people deserve to be acknowledged in this text for the kindness and support that they have bestowed upon me without which the accomplishment of this work would have not been possible.

First of all, my special appreciation goes to my supervisor Dr. Vibha Sharma, Associate Professor in the Department of English whose generous support, constructive guidance, remarkable patience and assistance through every stage of this research made it possible. In fact, working with her was a great fortune which turned this research into an exceptional joy of my life.

I would like to thank Prof. Seemin Hasan, Chairperson, Department of English, Aligarh Muslim University, Aligarh (India), for extending official support to me. She has been a source of learning in one way or another.

I would also like to express my deepest gratitude to Prof. Md. Rizwan Khan, Professor in the Department of English for providing me with his invaluable suggestions, comments and constant cooperation while doing this study. However, he has always enlightened me with his knowledge and instructions.

I would also like to thank Dr. Nabi Hasan, Librarian, Maulana Azad Library, AMU, and his staff, for extending their valuable support. I would like to extend my gratitude to all institutions and libraries outside Aligarh that enriched this study with valuable resources, including, the libraries of the University of Delhi, Jamia Millia Islamia, Jawaharlal Nehru University, English and Foreign Language University, Hyderabad, British Council and American Center in Delhi.

In addition, I would like to thank Mr. Ashfaque Ahmad, Computer Center, AMU, for his patience with me and his sincere assistance in data processing and statistical representations. I am thankful to all supporting staff in AMU for their willing cooperation especially Khan Parwez Rafiq, Incharge Seminar library, Department of English.
I must acknowledge all teachers and students who helped me directly or indirectly in the process of data collection for the present study.

I thank Prof. Harish Narang and Prof. Vaishna Narang, School of Languages, JNU, New Delhi, for the kindness and support they granted me to access library resources in that university.

I express my sincere gratitude to Mr. Hojatoleslam Mehdi Mahdavi Pour, Representative of the Supreme Leader of Iran in India for reposing faith and trust in me by providing me an opportunity to translate some important texts.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank my family. I must express my very profound gratitude to my husband, Dr. Ali Mamhoori, for inspiring me to take steps towards my goals, without whose never-ending support this research would have never been accomplished. It’s not easy to express in words my heart felt gratitude to my mother, Mrs. Forugh Ebrahimian whose emotional support and her belief in me has made every moment meaningful during my stay in India. I am indebted to my father Mr. Mohammad Rostami for being an incomparable teacher for my whole life. My heartiest thanks goes to my brother Mr. Omid Rostami who has always been beside me as a source of assurance and encouragement. Besides, my sincere regard goes to my mother in law Mrs. Fatemeh Balali.

I am extremely thankful to my friends Mr. Khalid Amin and Miss. Areeba Shabbir for providing me with their precious comments and suggestions at the very right time.
