By the grace of the Almighty God Sri Sainath and the blessings of my Grandparents I have been able to complete this thesis in spite of the inevitable ups and downs during my research work.

This thesis is the end of my journey in obtaining my PhD. I have not travelled in a vacuum in this journey. This thesis has been kept on track and been seen through to completion with the support and encouragement of numerous people including my family, well-wishers, my friends, and my colleagues. At the end of this thesis, it is a pleasant task to express my thanks to all those who contributed in many ways to the success of this study and made it an unforgettable experience for me.

At this moment of accomplishment, first of all I pay homage to my Guide Prof. (Dr) Ashok Kumar Srivastav, Principal, M. S. Law College, Cuttack, for his academic guidance, support, valuable suggestions and enthusiastic encouragement throughout the research work. As others say, it is a rare privilege to work under Prof. Srivastava, now I confirm to that statement. Under his guidance I successfully overcame many difficulties and learned a lot.

I am deeply indebted to Prof. (Dr) Prabir Pattnaik, Ex- Head of the Department of P. G. Department of Law, Utkal University, for his contributions to all aspects of my work on this thesis. During the PhD process, he always encouraged me to express my ideas and provided guidance for pursuing and accomplishing the research goals. He was amongst those people who have motivated me to restart my work after a huge gap and helped me a lot to overcome the most difficult phase in my life. Without his patience, constant encouragement, guidance, and personal attention it would be impossible to complete this thesis.

I would like to express my sincere gratitude to Dr. Madhusudan Dash, Head of the Department of P. G. Department of Law, Utkal University, for his academic support, guidance, moral support and constructive criticism which helped me a lot in completing my thesis.
I would like to express my deep gratitude and respect to Madam Smt. Binapani Chaudhary whose unconditional support, continuous encouragement and generous care was vital in making this thesis a reality.

I wish to express my sincere thanks to Sri. Dhananjaya Sahoo for providing me administrative cooperation for fulfilling the administrative requirements that helped me a lot in the successful completion of this thesis.

I would like to express my deep gratitude to Sri. Dibakara Sahoo for providing me administrative support for fulfilling the administrative requirements that helped me in successful completion of my thesis.

I would like to express my sincere thanks to my aunt Smt. Namita Sashmal whose unconditional care, support and encouragement was vital in making this thesis a reality.

I owe my sincere thanks to my brother Siddarth Badjena, for being a constant guiding force and source of encouragement for me. Without his valuable suggestions, guidance, and motivation I would not have been able to reach this place where I am today.

I owe my sincere thanks to my younger sister Barssa and Baishakhi, for being my strength and source inspirations throughout my life. Without their unconditional love, affection, and continuous encouragement it would have been impossible to reach this place where I am today. Their valuable suggestions helped me a lot for the successful completion of this thesis.

I owe my sincere thanks to my closest friend Minu who has been always a great support in all my struggles and frustrations in my life. Without her unconditional support and motivation it would have been impossible to complete this thesis.

I owe my sincere thanks to my sister-in-law Ms. Sasmita Badajena, whose constant support and encouragement was vital in making this thesis a reality.

I owe my sincere thanks to my brother-in-Laws, Jagannath Jena, Stitaprajna Swain and Shiva Mohanty, for being always standing beside me throughout the struggles in my life. I would like to pay high regards to them for their sincere encouragement and inspiration throughout my research work and lifting me uphill in this phase of life.
My Special thanks go to Rishu and Saanvi, two little angels of my life, for being providing me a stimulating and a fun filled environment throughout my research work. Their ‘Smile’ made this long journey of PhD successful and pleasant One.

Last but not least, My Special thanks go to Ladu, Kulamani, Ajay, Saroj, whose personal care, attention and logistic support helped me a lot in successful completion of this thesis.

A Journey is easier when you travel together. Interdependency is certainly more valuable than independence. Hence, thank you all who have accompanied me in my long journey of PhD and helped me to reach at the destination.
