Salutation to the noble Guru, who is Brahma, Vishnu and Maheswara, the direct Parabrahma the Supreme Reality.

The submission of this thesis has been a journey which can easily be termed as a rebirth of my learning. It’s with my utmost gratitude that I thank my supervisor Professor (Dr.) G.I.S. Sandhu, Registrar cum Professor of Law, Rajiv Gandhi National University of Law, Punjab for being my teacher and Guide.
He is the reason that I could learn to learn. Not only did he made sure that extensive research is done for the topic of my study but more importantly he taught me how to do step by step research. I thank him for allowing me to share his vast knowledge on criminal law and for teaching me to connect this knowledge with other facets of law. Starting from day one when this topic was selected till the time the last word was written for the submission of this thesis, his immense contribution cannot be constrained in words.

I most humbly thank our worthy Vice-Chancellor Professor (Dr.) Paramjit S.
Jaswal, for being my strength and my guiding light. I can never thank him enough for the faith that he reposed in me for this thesis and his unconditional help towards the completion of this research.
I thank my loving family for bearing with my struggles and for their love and support. My Father is the reason that I ever thought of pursuing my studies further after my LL.M. Thank You Papa for letting me dream. My friends have been my strength and I owe them my gratitude for not letting me give up in the middle of the fight. They have been my guarding angels and major contributors in shape of my biggest critiques and guides. I could not have completed this research without their support.

I extend my gratitude towards the Library Staff of RGNUL for the excellent resources that they house and for the ever tiring backing towards research and my special thank you is extended to Mr. Pankaj Kumar for all his technical expertise extended as help towards this research.

And above all my head bows to thank my lord for making this all possible for me. HE blessed, inspired and motivated me.
