PART - II

General Instructions:

It is a specially devised questionnaire. It consists of several statements on which opinion differs. Thus any expressed opinion would be considered as an "expression of one's own". So one should not bother, while answering, whether his answer is "right" or "wrong". Here one will find a list of statements which are covered with adjustment or coping of an individual with his environment-both physical and psychological. So the success of this investigation will depend on very frank and true opinion of the informants concerned; because without which<sup>it</sup> is not possible to know one's exclusively personal view.

Special Instructions:

Read each statement attentively and answer it with (✓) mark in the allotted space meant for the specific alternative-that would coincide with your "the answer". Remember that we want your personal experience only. For your guidance you will find a few examples which may not be "the answer" in your opinion; never mind these are examples only.

Examples:

Questions	Answers
	Always	Frequently	Occasionally	Rarely	Never
a) You want to participate in the School Sports and Games	...	...	...	...	...
b) You are habituated to help the destitutes	...	...	...	...	...
	Very true	True	Doubtful	Not true	Far from truth
c) Friendship lasts when mental tie remains	...	...	...	...	...
d) Students should not be in politics ignoring their studies	...	...	...	...	...

Do with a question and attempt the next one without wasting time. Be particular about "the answer" and do not brood over its correctness. Because we want you to express your own views through answering each of the questions.
