ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

‘Alone we can do so little; together we can do so much’, Hellen Keller.

This doctoral thesis could not have been completed without the support and contributions of many individuals and I take this opportunity to thank each one of them.

First and foremost, I would like to thank my PhD supervisor, Dr Rupal Walia Sharma, who was an unwavering pillar of support throughout these years. Her tremendous patience, immense knowledge, and a crystal-clear grasp of the subject helped at every stage. She has worked side by side, motivating, driving and guiding throughout. I could not have dreamt of a better mentor and guide. My deepest and sincerest gratitude to her.

I thank my Doctoral Advisory Committee, Dr Mridula Savitri Mishra and Dr Saikat Banerjee. Without their valuable contributions this thesis would have been incomplete.

I thank the Indian Institute of Foreign Trade for providing me with this opportunity. I am grateful to The Chairperson Research, Dr Rakesh Mohan Joshi, for giving his support, time and encouragement throughout the journey. I sincerely thank Programme Directors, Dr Debashish Chakarborty and Dr Basanta K. Sahu, for providing a conducive environment for research and for always being there for all my queries. I also express gratitude to the entire team of Research Division.

This acknowledgement is incomplete without a special mention to Dr O.P. Wali, who has always been there for my innumerable queries. I thank him for his patience.

Last but not the least I would like to thank my parents for believing in me, encouraging and supporting me, always. I would not have achieved what I have today without them. I thank my mother in law for all her support. Heartfelt thanks to my son and daughter for being so patient and understanding, way beyond their years. Finally, I am grateful to my husband for helping me realise my dream and for his encouragement, support and cooperation. Thank you for being there for me.
